U. S., Britain Plan Atom-Missile Pool

Macmillan, Ike Approve Joint Effort

Nations Will Work Together To Meet Russian Challenge

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan met tonight to discuss new moves to forge a British - American missiles and atomic partnership into a tougher defensive shield for all free nations.

Twelve of their top-ranking aides joined the evening White House meeting, the third get-together for the two Western leaders since they began their sweeping global review yesterday.

A tight secrecy curtain around the talks was lifted long enough earlier in the day to disclose an Eisenhower-Macmillan order to draw up immediate plans for a pooling of British-American atomic and missile resources. The stated aim was for "greater service to the free world."

In Full Agreement

A White House announcement also said Eisenhower and Macmillan and their foreign affairs chiefs were in full agreement on finding ways to harness their nation's resources to meet Russia's new diplomatic - scientific offensive.

The Eisenhower - Macmillan talks thus far were reported concentrating on the scientific-military field, with discussion of Russia's threat to the Middle East left over for the final conference scheduled for tomorrow afternoon.

Afterward, an official communique on the sessions will be issued.

The joint announcement at the White House today said Eisenhower and Macmillan had named two high-level committees to make recommendations for action in these important fields:

1. Nuclear relationship and cooperation.

2. Problems dealing with missiles and rocketry.

Strauss Heads Group

Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission was picked to head the atomic-hydrogen study group along with Sir Edwin Plowden, chairman of Britain's Atomic Energy Authority.

Recommendations for stepping up cooperation in the missiles-rocket field were placed in the hands of Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald Quarles and Sir Richard Powell, permanent secretary of the British defense administration.

The announcement was given out by presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty with Macmillan's press officer, Peter Hope, standing alongside.

Cobwebs Falling From Sky Blanket Southwest Town

PORTALES, N.M., Oct. 24 (AP)—This eastern New Mexico town was blanketed today by a mysterious cobweb-like substance which fell from the sky.

The silky threads, some of them 50 feet long, draped across telephone and power lines and created a nusiance in nearby corn and cotton fields where harvest is under way.

A possible explanation for the phenomenon came from an engineer at Sandia weapons base in Albuquerque, who said he had heard of similar occurrences in Bakersfield and Fresno, Calif.

The engineer said it was caused by millions of minute particles of dust high in the atmosphere. The dust particles, rubbing together, cause a static charge. This, in turn, causes the dust to fall to earth in the cobweb form.

U. N. Assembly Set To Resume Mideast Debate

Syria Rejects Mediation Plan, Urges Inquiry

FIRE BREATHER? — AFL-CIO President George Meany isn't breathing fire, though it appears so, as he announces the suspension of the Teamsters Union following a meeting of the executive council in Washington yesterday. Meany said the union had failed to rid itself of corruption. (AP Photofax)

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 24 (AP)—Most delegates to the U.N. General Assembly abandoned hope tonight of mediation in the Syrian-Turkish crisis. They prepared for a second round of bitter Middle East debate.

Declarations in Damascus and statements by Syrian representatives in the U.N. made clear that mediation by King Saud of Saudi Arabia is not in the cards at present.

Syria pressed instead a demand that the Assembly appoint a U.N. inquiry commission as quickly as possible to investigate the situation on the Syrian-Turkish border.

Assembly To Reconvene

The Assembly, which has been in recess since Wednesday pending possible mediation efforts, is set to reconvene tomorrow afternoon.

Foreign Minister 'salah Bitar and Ambassador Farid Zeineddine of Syria met for an hour with U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold on the Middle East.

There was talk that Hammarskjold might be asked to make a personal visit to the trouble area. An Arab source said this possibility was discussed by the Syrians with Hammarskjold.

But Bitar said afterward he did not extend any invitation to Hammarskjold to visit in Syria, and Zeineddine added that he did not think a visit would be useful "in the present circumstances."

Dag Visit Suggested

Akram Hourani, speaker of Syria's Parliament and a member of Bitar's Arab Socialist Resurrection party, had suggested in Damascus on Tuesday that a Hammarskjold visit might be helpful.

As for mediation, Bitar declared "there is none."

Zeineddine said Syria is pushing its demand for the Assembly to name an inquiry commission which would visit the Turkish-Syrian border and report back to the U.N. as quickly as possible.

Two Killed, 200 Hurt In French Strike Rioting

PARIS, Oct. 24 (AP)—Two shipyard strikers were killed and 200 injured in a destructive clash with authorities at St. Nazaire today on the eve of a nationwide 24-hour walkout by many unions. They are protesting high living costs.

At Nantes, several hundred striking metal workers hurled stones and iron bolts at police in a flare-up symptomatic of labor tension in this country without a government.

The strikers at St. Nazaire were angered by a management lockout after almost a month of rotating wildcat work stoppages. They smashed nearly every front window in the huge shipyard company's main office, ransacked offices and overturned a police van. Police reinforcements finally restored order.

The incident at Nantes came when police tried to disperse a crowd returning from a strike meeting. One passerby was slightly injured before police scattered the strikers with tear gas.

The nationwide strike threatened to upset the lives of Frenchmen for a second time in little over a week. Last Wednesday a 24-hour walkout by electric power and gas workers virtually paralyzed the nation.

Communist and some non-Communist unions called on Railwaymen, construction and metal workers, postal, telephone and airline employes and many others to quit their jobs. The Socialist unions urged its members not to strike. But it seemed probable that Frenchmen would be affected this way:

Few trains if any will move.

Paris subways and buses will be at a standstill.

Flying Boxcar Crashes, Burns

MIDWEST CITY, Okla., Oct. 24 (AP)—A C119 Flying Boxcar crashed and burned three miles north of this Oklahoma City suburb tonight.

The crash occurred only seconds after the big twin-engine troop carrier had taken off from Tinker Air Force Base here for Chanute (Ill.) AFB.

Tinker officials said the normal crew of four presumably was aboard the plane.

First reports had the plane hitting houses at the edge of the city and three houses afire, but firemen said the blaze was confined to the big plane alone and no houses were hit.

France Asks Missiles

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—The State Department said today France has requested intermediate-range ballistic missiles from the United States, and the request is "under study."

Two Bandits Rob Florida Bank, Escape In Airplane

FORT MEADE, Fla., Oct. 24 (AP)—The First State Bank of Fort Meade was robbed of $26,657 today by a pair of bandits who escaped in a small private plane. Later two men were arrested at Tampa's International Airport for questioning by the FBI.

At Tampa, Sheriff Ed Blackburn identified them as Donald J. Thompson, 32, pilot for a Tampa construction company, and Irvin Suits, 26, also of Tampa.

Thompson was arrested at the airport when he returned with a company - owned Cessna plane matching the description of one used by the robbers.

Suits was picked up by Tampa police late in the afternoon on a charge of driving while drinking.

Two planes were involved in the bizarre holdup. Two men who flew to Gilbert Airfield in Winter Haven stole a yellow Aeronca there and flew both planes out at the same time.

The pair who held up the bank escaped from Fort Meade in the Aeronca. It was found abandoned later in Plant City, about 25 miles east of Tampa and 30 miles north of Fort Meade.

Constable Harry Godwin said the bandits pretended they were drunk. He said he arrested the pair. When he put them in his car to take them to jail, they pulled pistols and forced him to drive into the country, where they put on stocking masks. He said they wore Air Force fatigue clothes.

During the ride they fired their pistols several times, he said, to support their role of being drunk.

During the entire proceedings they continued to act in a drunken manner and fired a shot to keep those in the bank back when they fled in Godwin's car to the airfield where they flew away in the stolen Aeronca before pursuers could reach the field.

U.S. Steps Up Tempo Of Its Missile Tests

Air Force Fires 1,000-Mile Space Rocket, Thor IRBM

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—The United States is hurling aloft a virtual fusillade of mighty missiles and rockets, ranging from a record-shattering shoot into outer space to spectacular destruction by a robot weapon of a target plane a hundred miles out over the Atlantic Ocean.

In obvious challenge to Russia's claims of leadership in the race of scientists and weaponeers, this country had chalked up by tonight these new achievements:

1. The launching of two research rockets by the Air Force from balloons. One of these seems to have swooshed straight up to not less than 1,000 miles. This height dwarfs the previous farthest-out record. The Army's Jupiter C, experimental device, not of weapon design, was unofficially reported to have gone about 3,000 miles and climbed to an altitude of more than 600 miles a year ago. Russia's Sputnik satellite was put into orbit at a reported altitude of 560 miles.

Not Intended To Orbit

The Air Force emphasized that the rocket shoots in its Operation Far Side, made from balloons floating 100,000 feet over Eniwetok Atoll in the Pacific, were not intended to put an object into orbit but merely to make scientific soundings of the vast ocean of space—straight up.

2. The firing of an Air Force Bomarc long - range antiaircraft guided missile yesterday from the Cape Canaveral, Fla., Missile Test Center which ferreted out, collided with and knocked down—without benefit of warhead—a drone bomber a hundred miles out over the Atlantic Ocean. The automatic warning device built into the Bomarc weapon system, built by Boeing Airplane Co., put the target-hunting missile into the air in less than two minutes after the alert signal.

Thor Missile Test Success

3. Another successful shoot today of an Air Force Thor intermediate-range ballistic missile—IRBM—from Cape Canaveral. This was the sixth time the USAF has test-fired a Thor and the fourth successful shot. Today's missile "flew its prescribed course and landed in the preselected impact area," said an Air Force announcement. The Thor was understood to have gone more than 1,500 miles and hit its target.

Earlier in the day, another research rocket, not a weapon, also was fired from Canaveral. On Tuesday the Army, competing with the Air Force in IRBM development, made another successful launching of its Jupiter weapon. The unofficial score for the Army now stands at three successful Jupiter weapon tests, one an outright failure and one of doubtful value.

Yugoslavia Asks New Big Power Disarm Parley

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 24 (AP)—Yugoslavia late today formally proposed new big power negotiations on disarmament.

The Yugoslav delegation submitted its resolution in the Political Committee of the General Assembly, now debating disarmament.

The resolution would have the Assembly ask the 12-nation Disarmament Commission subcommittee to convene "at an early date."

Jayne Rescued From Mob Minus Diamond Garter

MILAN, Italy, Oct. 24 (AP)—Jayne Mansfield's manager said tonight the blonde actress lost a $1,000 diamond-studded garter when a mob of Italian fans pushed and shoved her.

The manager said he told a policeman about it informally but did not make an official complaint. Police professed no knowledge of the incident.

Jayne also lost two shoes in the near-riot outside a Milan movie theater last night. Several hundred fans mobbed her car and struggled to get pieces of Miss Mansfield's clothing. She was carried inside the theater by the manager, Bill Winter.

"I've never seen such a mob in 20 years," Winter said.

Company Billed For Funds Used Against Unions

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Walter J. Patterson, an agent of Nathan W. Shefferman, testified today he distributed money received from the Whirlpool Co., to help influence employes to vote against joining labor unions.

He said some money was handed out "rather freely" as expense remuneration to employes at the Whirlpool plant in Clyde, Ohio, and some was distributed as loans.

Patterson told the Senate Rackets Committee he did not at the time regard this as an unfair labor practice forbidden by federal law. He said he was unaware that one of Shefferman's staff lawyers had warned Shefferman that it was illegal.

Patterson is a former executive secretary of the Michigan State Labor Mediation Board, now a top lieutenant on the staff of Shefferman's management consulting firm.

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy has described Shefferman as a specialist in "union busting." Shefferman also has been under committee fire for acknowledged financial dealings with Teamsters Union President Dave Beck.

The testimony of Patterson, who said he used different names on labor consulting missions to various cities, capped a day in which the committee had heard another witness Charles Litell, swear that he had served as a "labor spy" at another Whirlpool plant, located at Marion, Ohio. Litell said he acted under the direction of another Shefferman aide.

Patterson testified that "no one ever complained" about the bills he submitted to the Whirlpool-Clyde plant for the money he said he passed out "rather freely" to employes and recorded as reimbursement for expenditures they said they were making for propaganda in favor of votes against the union. He said he wasn't sure they actually spent any of this money for the purpose and, "I don't believe I ever informed the company" as to the details of these expenditures.

Crooner Bing Crosby Weds 23-Year-Old Texas Beauty

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Oct. 24 (AP)—Widower Bing Crosby married a bright, brown-eyed beauty from Texas named Kathryn Grant today in a nuptial Mass culminating a romance that began four years ago on a movie lot.

"Mrs. Crosby, how about that!" the crooner grinned as they walked out of St. Ann's Catholic church.

The 45-minute ceremony, during which both received Communion, was performed by Msgr. John J. Ryan. Crosby, 53, wore a blue pinstripe single-breasted suit with white shirt and blue tie. His actress bride, 23, was dressed in a white suit with purple orchid and a white lace mantilla she bought in Spain.

The wedding took even their friends and family by surprise, but Bing airly seemed to wonder what all the fuss was about.

But wasn't the romance broken off a year ago?

"Ostensibly it was, but that was only so we could sit back and think things over," he replied. "I've been sold on the idea for a long time. It was a matter of selling Kathy on it. We decided to go ahead in the past week."

Bing didn't let any of his family except his mother in on his plans. He and Kathy came to Las Vegas yesterday with his long-time friend, Leoy Lynn, and her friend, Mrs. Guilbert Banks. They attended the wedding couple. Bing told his plans to Msgr. Ryan, requesting that no reporters be present during the ceremony.

"He was rather a detective," the priest smiled to newsmen. "He fooled all you people."

Bing and Kathy showed up at the marriage license bureau in the courthouse shortly before 9 a.m. and signed the application in their legal names—Harry Lillis Crosby and Olive K. Grandstaff. Then they hurried to St. Ann's, a small church on the outskirts of Las Vegas. After the wedding, Bing gave the two delighted altar boys his autograph, staining his hands with ink as he did.

"I called my mother this morning to tell her I was going to the church," Bing said later. "The boys—his four sons—don't know about it yet. I'm going to call them now. Three of them are in Los Angeles, and Gary is in Germany."

Kathy's mother, Mrs. D. E. Grandstaff, a West Columbia, Tex., schoolteacher, at first said she "was stunned by the whole thing. I don't know anything about it. I have not heard from Kathy, and so far as I know, she had not even seen Mr. Crosby in several months."

"He seems like a nice fellow, and as long as Kathy is happy we are happy too," she said.

Later in the day Mrs. Grandstaff said her daughter and Crosby had telephoned her after the wedding.

Kathy, a trim, vivacious girl with a degree in fine arts from the University of Texas, had been Bing's most serious romance since the death from cancer of his first wife, Dixie Lee, on Nov. 1, 1952.

Snow Forecast For Northeast

[By The Associated Press]

Blustery, rainy, cold weather covered most of the country Thursday but the South, from the Pacific to the Atlantic, basked under sunny skies.

Cold Canadian air again chilled the nation's mid-section. The cold air expanded eastward through the Ohio Valley and flowed along the border states, where snow fell.

The western edge of the central plains also had snow.

The continuing cold air movement was expected to drag down temperatures throughout the eastern portion of the nation Friday. Snow flurries were forecast from the mountains of northern New England into Pennsylvania and through the Great Lakes.

Even Ike Will Pay To See 'Little Army-Navy Game'

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 4 (AP)—President Eisenhower will be one of about 10,000 customers paying to watch the first meeting of Army and Navy in lightweight football here Saturday.

Even the President will pay $2 for his ticket to the "Little Army-Navy game" being staged as a benefit for a new Navy-Marine Corps memorial stadium to be constructed here.

The game which will match the 150-pound football teams of Navy, perennial powerhouse in the lightweight league, and Army, a newcomer to the loop but undefeated in two games this season.

Plans call for President Eisenhower to arrive for his first visit to the Naval Academy as President at 1:25 p.m. (EDT), five minutes before the game.

At halftime the President will present the brigade of midshipmen with an old Viking sword, excavated in the vicinity of Oslo, Norway, and presented to the United States by King (then prince) Olaf. The sword, estimated to be about 1,000 years old, will be presented to Midshipman Charles R. Larson of Omaha, Neb., commander of the 3,600-man brigade.

Eisenhower requested only informal honors, and the customary 1-gun salute will be omitted. He will receive four ruffles and flourishes and the band will play "Hail to the Chief."

Half of the 3,600-man brigade of midshipmen will be in Philadelphia for the Penn-Navy varsity football game. The remaining regiment and 450 students from the naval preparatory school at Bainbridge, Md., will form the marching unit.

Suspension Voted Until Hoffa Purged

Meany Charges Union Has Made No "Cleanup" Effort

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—The AFL-CIO Executive Council today suspended the Teamsters Union until James R. Hoffa and other allegedly corrupt officials are ousted from the truckers union.

The suspension was announced by AFL - CIO President George Meany who said the Teamsters, largest AFL-CIO unit, had failed to rid itself of corruption.

Meany said the vote for suspension was 25-4. He declined to name the dissenters.

Asked whether the Teamsters had done anything at all to correct widespread corrupt conditions, as previously charged by the AFL-CIO and the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), Meany replied with a flat "No."

Meany said the suspension actions means that the 1½-million-man Teamsters organization cannot be accepted back in good standing in the parent federation unless it completely boots out Teamsters President-elect James R. Hoffa.

December "Deadline"

Meany and the council ruled that unless the Teamsters promptly consent to ousting Hoffa and meet other cleanup conditions, complete expulsion of the union from AFL-CIO ranks will be recommended to the AFL-CIO convention in December.

Meany also said such other newly elected Teamsters officials, as Owen (Bert) Brennan, Detroit, and John O'Rourke, New York, should stand a rigid Teamsters Union investigation.

Hoffa, who would succeed Dave Beck as president, and the others were elected at a recent Miami Beach convention which U.S. District Judge F. Dickinson Letts yesterday ruled was rigged to pick Hoffa. Letts has barred the officials from taking office until the case is tried on its merits.

Meany spoke after the 29-member AFL-CIO Executive Council held a three hour closed session to decide whether the Teamsters had met AFL-CIO conditions for a cleanup. The AFL-CIO, among other things, had demanded that the union toss out Hoffa.

Hoffa Pleads For Delay

Hoffa and other Teamsters bosses pleaded today for a one-year's delay in their threatened ouster. But rather than promising specific reforms, they stressed mainly how bad it would be for labor for their union—the nation's lagest—to be kicked out of the AFL-CIO.

Hoffa angrily stalked out of the federation headquarters building shortly before the verdict was announced. He refused to talk to newsmen.

Meany said he and his council members regretted considerably having to punish the AFL-CIO's largest affiliate, but that it was something that had to be done.

"We exceedingly regret the necessity for this action," the Council's statement said. "We acutely recognize that it is no light matter to suspend from affiliation America's largest trade union."

Crisis Topples Swede Regime

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct. 24 (AP)—The Swedish government, a coalition of Socialists and Agrarians, collapsed today in a clash over social, welfare and economic policy. It had ruled for six years.

At the same time the Swedish military headed, by Gen. Mils Swedlund, the commander in chief, demanded that the armed forces be provided with costly modern weapons such as atomic bombs and missiles for the national defense.

Although not outwardly connected, the two things were related in a sharpening domestic crisis.

The issue has boiled down to this: higher prices for food obtained by the Agrarians to please the farmers, and higher taxes exacted by the Socialists to pay for their social program have set the man-in-the-street to grumbling.

The Swedish army, navy and air force have concluded that scientific advances in warfare have gone beyond their present equipment. In effect, they demanded that the nation make up its mind between pensions and modern weapons, saying: give us atomic weapons and guided missiles or prepare to defend Stockholm alone.

Capital Speculates If Next Cabinet Shift Will Involve Benson

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Will Secretary of Agriculture Benson be the fourth member of the Eisenhower Cabinet to leave office in 1957?

This question was being asked in government and farm circles today in the wake of Atty. Gen. Brownell's resignation and Benson's departure Tuesday on a round-the-world trip to check up on U.S. farm surplus disposal operations abroad.

Even before these two events, reports were circulating—particularly in the Agriculture Department—that Benson will be moved from his Cabinet post to another job.

The reports were that Benson would go the White House where he would serve as an assistant to the President on a broadened farm surplus disposal program. His world trip ties into such speculation.

But Benson aides declare there is no truth to the reports. They say that the White House has made plans for Benson, in the capacity of secretary of agriculture, that carry well into February. Benson himself said recently that he has no plans to resign.

The collapse of many previous forecasts of his resignation would appear to lend weight to the prospect of Benson's continuing indefinitely as farm secretary.

Benson has been under fire from some farm organizations, and from some farm leaders of his own as well as of the Democratic party, since shortly after he took office in 1953 and outlined policies calling for reduced government aid to farmers.

A number of times, Republican farm-state congressmen have called on Eisenhower to remove Benson. But Eisenhower has always responded with a warm endorsement of his farm chief.

Yet perhaps at no time in Benson's tenure has criticism of his policies been so widespread as it is today.

Farm income has failed to keep pace with that of other elements of the economy. More expressions of dissatisfaction are coming from farm organizations than ever before.

Some see a political significance in the action of a few farmers in tossing eggs at Benson when he arose to make a speech at Sioux Falls, S.D., recently.

Sen. Proxmire (D-Wis) credited his recent upset election in Wisconsin to dissatisfaction of that state's dairy farmers with administration farm programs. Benson has said that this is not true, but some Republicans have agreed with Proxmire.

House Of Dior Will Continue Despite Death

PARIS, Oct. 24 (AP)—The House of Christian Dior will continue despite the famed designer's death today in Italy.

"Our salesgirls are continuing with fittings, the house is open; all the personnel go on with their tasks."

This message was read to a news conference in the Dior lobby by the Marquis de Maussabre, chief of Dior's press service.

Pale and faltering from shock and grief, he refused to answer any questions about immediate plans for the house, or to say what designer or designers will replace the creator of the "new look."

The French fashion world, stunned by the 52-year-old Dior's unexpected death from a heart attack on a vacation at Montecatini, agreed with textile king Marcel Boussac.

"His death leaves an immense void," said Boussac, who launched Dior and backed him financially. "He contributed magnificently in giving back to France her prestige in the world of fashion when it had been broken by the war and occupation."

The French government gave Dior the Legion of Honor several years ago for saving Paris as a world fashion center at a time when New York designers were sharply challenging the French.

Russian Wheat Harvest Off 25%

LONDON, Oct. 24 (AP)—The 1957 Soviet wheat crop is about 25 per cent below expectations, a Western diplomat estimates.

"There is no immediate danger of widespread hunger," the diplomat said, "because the Russians can fall back on stockpiles from the 1956 bumper crop.

"But let them have another bad crop next year, coming on the heels of this one, and they will be nearing real trouble."

The diplomat, who is in a position to know what is going on in the Soviet Union, asked that his name not be used.

"The Russians have gotten a great deal of propaganda value out of the satellite but they have stopped mentioning the bad harvest. Over the long road bread outranks satellites."

In addition to the low harvest yield, much grain is being spoiled by inefficiency in the Soviet delivery system, the diplomat stated.

The sharp decline in wheat yield was caused by a severe late spring and summer drought in the virgin Asian lands—planting areas boosted by Communist party boss Khrushchev.

Travelers driving to Moscow from Poland have reported seeing huge piles of grain along the road. Much of it had begun to rot, overheat and sprout.

DETROIT, Oct. 24 (AP)—Chrysler Corp., riding high on a comeback surge, today announced the second highest nine months earnings in its history and an extra dividend of $1.00 per share.

Reds Slow Truck Traffic From Berlin

HELMSTEDT, Germany, Oct. Oct. 24 (AP)—Communist East Germany imposed a slowdown on truck traffic between West Berlin and the Bonn Republic today.

At about noon, East German police began checks of trucks bound from Berlin to the West on the autobahn, West German officials reported. Within a short time, about 400 trucks queued up at the East German control point of Marienborn, opposite this West German town. Berlin-bound trucks were not delayed.

Truck drivers said the Communist guards told them they were searching for Berlin-made Western anti-Red propaganda material. The same official explanation has been given for Communist checks of Berlin-West Germany mail trains, causing 24-hour delays in delivery.

Italian Wins Nobel Prize For Medicine

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct. 24 (AP)—Dr. Daniel Bovet, an Italian scientist who helped ease the lot of allergy sufferers with antihistamines and of surgical patients with a deadly poison, was awarded the 1957 Nobel Prize for medicine today. He arose from a sickbed to say how happy he was.

Dr. Bovet is the man who adapted curare, used by South American Indians for centuries to poison their darts, for use synthetically as a relaxing anesthetic in modern surgery.

He was a pioneer in the development of antihistamines to combat such irritants as hay fever, rash, eczema and asthma.

Housewife Turns Down 60-Room Castle, $56,000

EMSWORTH, England, Oct. 24 (AP)—A housewife tonight turned down a 60-room castle and $56,000. She said she'd carry on with her family in their 10-room house instead.

Mrs. Anne Alington, 36, wife of a naval officer and mother of three children, was left Castle Wemyss at Skelmorlie, Renefrewshire, by her uncle Lord Inverclyde, who died last June.

He also willed her the $56,000—on condition that she live there at least 10 years.

"It's no good," said Mrs. Alington at her home here after looking over the castle.

"My husband and I have twisted all the figures round as hard as we can, but the answer is still the same—we can't afford it.

"It's too sad for words."

Under the will the castle now will be offered in turn to each of Mrs. Alington's three younger sisters.

Probe Reported In New Phase

BALTIMORE, Oct. 4 (AP)—Two secret witnesses appeared today before the grand jury amid reports the jurors had swung into a new phase of their probe into Baltimore Police Department affairs.

Courthouse observers said both witnesses are members of the department's rackets division, which has seen three of its members—including its two top officers—suspended and a fourth commit suicide since the probe was initiated by state police last month.

The two witnesses were not formally summoned and were whisked into the jury room by a door seldom used.

After their lengthy appearance, State's Atty. J. Harold Grady refused to comment on whether they appeared in connection with charges that two high-ranking police officials and a civilian had maintained an apartment for a convicted prostitute.

However, state police, who did much of the spadework in the investigation of these charges before turning over their information for use by the grand jury, have since indicated they are running down reports of thievery, bribery and shakedowns by a handful of key Police Department members.

Official Sees Need For New State Revenues

BALTIMORE, Oct. 24 (AP)—Maryland legislators must sharply curtail state services next year or find 15 to 20 million dollars in new revenue, a state official said today.

The official, who asked that his name not be used, said the current outlook indicates a need for 15 million dollars "on the optimistic side" and 20 million "or more to be pessimistic."

Although fiscal authorities have predicted the necessity of higher taxes, this was the first time one of them has ventured specific figures.

They have declined to discuss the matter at length until Gov. McKeldin has been fully briefed. They also are quick to point out that the revenue and spending pictures could change rapidly.

Sales tax receipts for the first quarter of the budget year were $10,118,245, down $38,050 from the same period last year. However, fiscal authorities said sales tax returns were unusually high during last year's first quarter and that revenues might catch up and justify the estimated increase of three million dollars for the full year.

Budget proposals for next fiscal year also are discouraging. Records show that so far state departments and agencies have asked for $13,700,000 in new revenues from general funds with the big school-aid program yet to be submitted.

Stocks Slightly Higher

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP)—Stocks tacked a small gain today onto the epochal advance of yesterday.

Most stocks ended higher with advances confined to $1 or less. There was a very liberal sprinkling of losses. Trading slackened to the lowest level of the week.

United Nations Marks Its 12th Birthday

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 24 (AP)—The U.N. celebrated its 12th birthday today by parading its infant army in Gaza and receiving praise and blame from kings and commissars.

The world organization's shortcomings were freely acknowledged by its staunchest defenders and most faithful servants. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold called the U.N. "imperfect and experimental. . .but a significant step toward a better organization of human society."

India's Prime Minister Nehru told a U.N. Day gathering in New Delhi: "but for the U.N., there would have been one or two major wars in the past 12 years."

The Russians—condemned by the U.N. for crushing the Hungarian revolt—seized on the anniversary of the day the U.N. Charter went into effect to attack U.S. participation in the U.N.

"It seems that some American political circles have decided that the U.N. as an international organization should be turned into a subdivision of the U.S. State Department," said the Communist party newspapers, Pravda.

The Communist radio in Budapest broadcast a statement by the Hungarian U.N. League accusing the General Assembly of going along with "lies and insults against the Hungarian government despite the protests of millions of Hungarian citizens."

The citizens of Hungary were banned from holding U.N. Day celebrations like those all over the world. The government has prohibited demonstrations of any kind for fear they might erupt with the memories of the tragic revolt which marked its first anniversary yesterday.

In Iran two climbing teams raced toward the top of a peak in the Elburs Mountains for the honor of placing a flag there. Eighty-two colored balloons, each tagged with the name of a U.N. member, were set aloft at Bankok, Thailand.

In Japan a U.N. flag was planted atop snowy Mt. Fujiyama, and Mexico held a bicycle race.

The luxurious Hawk-inspired PRESIDENT 4-Door

1958 STUDEBAKERS

America's family sports car . . . the versatile GOLDEN HAWK

This year, Studebaker-Packard steps away out front in automotive styling, value and performance. New longer, lower Flight-Stream silhouettes mark the entire line . . . from America's lowest-priced, full-sized automobiles, the famous Scotsman series—to the brilliant new President, Commanders, Champions and the famous Golden and Silver Hawks. Graceful Hawk-inspired fins, new grilles and dual headlights set in jet-sweep nacelles give these new cars a dashing appearance, in the best of taste.

Interiors, too, set these '58 Studebakers apart . . . from color-correlated, deeply cushioned upholstery to safety cone steering wheel and Flight-Style instrument panel.

Exclusive variable rate springs and variable ratio steering for easy handling combine with a new Luxury-Level ride to provide driving comfort unmatched even by cars costing hundreds of dollars more.

All this, plus dependable service, unsurpassed operating economy, and proven resale value make a Studebaker the one automobile that® every '58 car buyer should be sure to evaluate!

Visit your Studebaker-Packard dealer today . . . guest-drive the car of your choice . . . drive it home tonight!

ASA Chooses Projects

During the business meeting of the Cumberland Alumnae Chapter, Alpha Sigma Alpha, held at the home of Mrs. Edgar Reynolds, Louisiana Avenue, Tuesday evening, it was decided to buy ping pong equipment for the nurses' new home at Memorial Hospital.

Projects for the year were discussed and helping the nurses was chosen. A Thanksgiving basket of food for the Associated Charities is to be packed at the next meeting, November 19, at the home of Mrs. William Kight, Braddock Road. A letter was read concerning the national convention, which will be held in June at Wernersville, Pa. Members discussed attending.

Concluding the meeting, refreshments were served. White candles, fall flowers and late rosebuds centered the table. Others present were Mrs. James Grosh, Mrs. Robert Platt, Mrs. Kight and Mrs. Harry Cornelius.

AAUW Group Hears Of Europe

The international relations group of the Cumberland AAUW met at the home of Miss Dorothy Willison, Fayette Street, Wednesday evening. She told of her recent trip to Europe, which included seven countries.

Miss Willison was one of a party of 10 traveling together with a guide. She first gave a brief resume of the trip, with highlights of each country visited. They were Italy, France, Switzerland, Austria, Germany, Holland and England. Since Miss Willison had been abroad before, once making a trip around the world, she made comparisons of the countries now and then.

The trip was a music study tour and the group attended operas, music festivals, concerts, ballets and included a puppet musical. These music centers were Rome, Florence, Paris, Salzburg, Vienna, Beyrouth, Glyndebourne and London.

Miss Addie Newell assisted the hostess for a dessert and coffee hour. The next meeting will be at the home of Miss Virginia Dixon, 650 Fayette Street, November 23, at 2 p. m.

The executive board of AAUW will meet tomorrow at 11 a. m., at the home of Mrs. Earl Nonenmann, Blake Terrace.

Class To Meet

Golfers Award Trophies; Officers Are Installed

The Women's Golf Association of the Cumberland Country Club had installation of officers and awarding of trophies at the final dinner meeting of the season, last evening at the Cumberland Country Club.

Mrs. William George was inducted as chairman for the coming year; Mrs. Albert C. Eskin, vice chairman; Mrs. Robert L. Davis, secretary; Mrs. Harold J. Sebra, treasurer; Mrs. George M. Young, Rules chairman; Mrs. Louis Spoerl, Scores and Mrs. Charles Helmrich, Tournament.

Trophy awards presented were Crystal Laundry, to Mrs. G. William Bibby, an Old German tray; first leg on Old Herman, Mrs. George, low net for field, was presented a replica; Mrs. Eskin, the Edgar Vandegrift Memorial; Mrs. A. J. Century Club To Help Mentally Ill

Participation in the United Fund drive and Mental Health Week were discussed at the meeting of the board of LaVale Century club, which was held Wednesday evening at the LaVale Library. Any woman of the LaVale area, who has not been contacted, or whose husband has not given at work, is asked to contribute to the United Fund through a member of the Century Club. Contributions may be given to any member of the club or may be brought to the general meeting, October 29, to which they are invited. The meeting will be held in the LaVale Methodist Church, at which time Miss Dorothy Stone White, dramatic instructor at Frostburg State Teachers College, will give readings accompanied by Mrs. Ernest Church of Potomac State College. Anyone interested in this type of program is invited to be the guest of the club. Mrs. Paul Steinla is general chairman for collections with Mrs. Lewis Ort and Mrs. C. N. Foose Jr. assisting.

As October is mental health month, members are asked to bring donations for patients in the five mental hospitals in the state, which need support. They are Crownsville, Eastern Shore, Rosewood, Springfield and Spring Grove. Articles requested are handkerchiefs, tissues, bobby pins, hairpins, soap, cosmetics, art supplies, chewing gum, games, playing cards, records, tobacco, cigarets, costume jewelry, stationery and money is always accepted. Artciles are not to be wrapped, but gift wrapping may be included.

Appreciation was extended to everyone in LaVale who contributed to the bakeless bake sale for the library. In recognition of library month in November, the library committee will conduct its annual poster contest for the upper grades of the LaVale and Parkside schools. There will be story telling by Century Club members for the lower grades, November 17-23. Mrs. Albert Tosh is chairman. Mrs. Richard Heacox reported more shelves and new lighting fixtures have been added to the library. Eighteen adult new books and 35 children's books were added this month.

The board accepted one new member, Mrs. William F. Baker.

Supper Bazaar Planned

Mapleside Women's Society of Christian Service will hold its annual turkey and ham supper and bazaar October 29, beginning at 5 p. m. The Senior MYF will have a parcel post booth and grab bags. The Junior MYF will sell home made candy. The public is invited.

CHILDREN'S WORLD — FIRST BALCONY

Community Day To Be Observed In Afternoon

The observance of World Community Day will be held at 2 p.m. November 1, instead of in the evening as formerly. The change was made to accept the invitation of Mrs. E. W. Culp, district secretary of the Mission Education and Service of the WSCS, to join Methodist women of Cumberland in a United Mission Study of Japan. The first of the four sessions will be November 1. Others will be the November 8, 15 and 22. They will be one and one half hour sessions at Centre Street Church, starting at 7:30. Miss Betty Ault, former missionary to Japan, will be the instructor.

A film on the theme, "Bread, Freedom and Dignity," will feature the program at the service, which is being held in Emmanuel Episcopal parish house. Mrs. Henry T. Pyles is chairman. Parcels for peace and contributions for the world service or relief are to be brought to the meeting.

Mrs. Lee Fresh and a group here will attend the meeting of the council presidents and committee chairmen, being held in Baltimore October 29.

October 31 the all-day sewing meeting will be held at the parish house, beginning at 10 a. m. Members are to bring a sandwich. Coffee will be served. Mrs. G. William Eichner is chairman. The bi-monthly meeting of the council will be held at 10 a. m. November 7.

LaVale Ladies Auxiliary to the firemen will meet tonight at the fire hall, at 8. Hostesses for the social hour are Mrs. Flo Alexander, Mrs. Gladys Burkey and Mrs. Carrie Eshbaugh.

Society Receives Invitation

Park Place WSCS received an invitation to hear Governor McKeldin speak of his visit to the Holy Land, at a luncheon meeting in Centre Street Methodist Church November 25 at 12:45.

The society also planned the observance of a Quiet Day, October 30, during the Week of Prayer and Self Denial next week. The observance will begin at 10 a.m. with Mrs. Raymond Koontz in charge. Another meeting will be at 7:30, when a contribution of $10 is to be given the Africa mission and $5 the business girls' lodge in Baltimore.

A study course on Japan will be held at Centre Street Church November 1, 8, 15 and 23, conducted by Miss Betty Ault, former missionary. Because of the course all circles will meet November 14.

Plans were completed for the annual turkey supper and bazaar November 7 in the LaVale fire hall from 5 until 7. The society sent 25 boxes of cake mix and 14 pounds of bandages to Catherine Eye, missionary in Africa. It was announced a study course on race relations will close October 27, when a moving picture, "The Broken Mask" will be shown, beginning at 7:30. Anyone interested is invited to attend. Mrs. Elizabeth Moody reported on the district meeting in Hagerstown and Mrs. Earl Sills, on the mission institute at LaVale church.

The opening hymn was "There Will Be Showers of Blessings." Prayer was offered by Mrs. Sills. Mrs. Edith Cessna presided at the business session. Routine reports were given. It was announced 23 sick calls were made during the month. Mrs. Donald Bittner, was program leader for the evening. Her topic was "Our Home Mission Centers and Races." She was assisted by Mrs. Bruce Bauer, Mrs. James German, Mrs. Vernon Miller, Mrs. Herbert Cessna and Mrs. Cletis Mallow. Mrs. Raymond Koontz read the Scripture and a poem, "A Friend." Fourteen members attended.

Social Chart

Cresaptown Fun Night, scheduled for tonight has been postponed until November 1.

Bedford Road firemen will hold the weekly dance tomorrow night from 9 until 12 at the fire hall.

A Holloween party will be held for the Junior and Intermediate departments of the LaVale Baptist Church tonight from 7 until 9 in the social room.

ATTEND AFL-CIO HEARING — James R. Hoffa, midwest boss of the Teamsters whose election as president of the big labor union has been held up by the federal courts, stands in an elevator at AFL-CIO headquarters, Washington, as he arrived yesterday to defend the Teamsters against ouster from the AFL-CIO. Behind Hoffa is John English, Teamsters' secretary-treasurer. In a last ditch effort to prevent ouster, the Teamsters' Union proposed it be given a year's time to institute reforms. (AP Photofax)

Churches To Mark 440th Anniversary Of Protestant Reformation

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

The old word "Protestant" has a sturdy ring today. It will sound in thousands of churches across the country this Sunday.

As they mark the 440th anniversary of the Protestant Reformation, leaders emphasize that the heritage has come to mean not criticism of others, but continuing self-criticism.

Protestantism regards the churches themselves as imperfect, says noted theologian Reinhold Niebuhr, as "standing under the judgment and mercy of God," as constantly in need of improvement and protest against their own failings.

But they also deeply cherish their traditions.

And they'll celebrate that legacy this weekend with special worship in individual churches, and in many cities, with huge interdenominational rallies, colorful pageants and resounding choirs.

"A Mighty Fortress Is Our God"—that's the song of the day, the great hymn of the 16th century reformer Martin Luther.

However, the revolt he touched off against the Roman Catholic Church of that day does not remain the central theme of the observance, but rather the lasting principles still in action.

To consider the occasion merely "the recollection of a time way back in history when we broke with Rome" would make the word "Protestant" a negative and "not a particularly honorable term," said the Rev. Dr. James A. Pike.

Dr. Pike, a leading New York Episcopal clergyman, adds:

"A truly Protestant church is not one that can look back to a reformation. It is one that recognizes its needs of reformation today."

On such matters, he suggests, as these:

Recognizing all races as equal in God's sight.

Eliminating tension and factionalism in the congregation.

Observing the Lord's Supper — the Bible says the Apostoles did it each Sunday.

Giving more financial support to the church—not just handy "tips to God."

The National Council of Churches, which has sent special programs of worship for the day to the nation's 280,000 churches, said in its monthly organ, the Outlook:

"The emphasis of the day is not against anyone or any faith. It is a positive affirmation . . . of what Protestantism stands for. It shouldn't be a day in which we call for division, but for greater unity."

And unity is the earmark of the testivities in many places.

Christians of various denominations will join in mass meetings and dramatic pageants in numerous major cities—in St. Louis, Buffalo, N. Y., Cincinnati, and others.

In New York City, evangelist Billy Graham leads the ceremonies at a big rally in the Polo Grounds Stadium, an event signalling the climax of a citywide, house-to-house evangelism drive held as an aftermath to his summer crusade.

Sgt. York Broke, Hopes Tax Claim Fades Away

PALL MALL, Tenn., Oct. 24 (AP)—The old soldier of Wolf River says he lives in hopes that though an $85,000 federal tax claim against him may never die, maybe it will just fade away.

At least, it appears Uncle Sam may have more trouble collecting from Sgt. Alvin C. York than York had in killing 25 Germans and capturing 132 more to win the Medal of Honor in World War I.

What's more, he says a 4-year illness plus his 69 years have left him too feeble for travel to a tax court hearing.

The government contends that during the two years after the film was released in 1941, York received about $150,000 and failed to pay all taxes due.

York, who suffered a stroke four years ago, says the money is all gone now, exhausted by doctor and hospital bills.

"Oh, we may have $25 or $30 in the house, but that's all," Mrs. York told an interviewer.

York said the tax claim against him stems from the fact the government viewed his proceeds from the movie as regular income rather than capital gains.

The suit has been scheduled for hearing several times in tax courts at Knoxville and Nashville, but always has been continued by the government.

Now it is set for airing at Nashville on Nov. 8, and though by his consent the hearing could go on without him, York says he has no intention of giving it.

York owns a 395-acre farm but he says his chief means of support is a $60-a-month disability pension plus an additional $10 as a Medal of Honor winner.

The potato was found in North America as early as the 16th century.

Closely Coordinated Effort With Precision Fueling Techniques Required To Get Vanguard Off Ground

By WILLIAM B. HARWOOD

BALTIMORE, Oct. 24 (AP) — Months of preparations and 11 tons of costly equipment could be nullified in one huge blast should the fueling of the giant, three-stage rocket that will launch America's earth satellite fall short of perfection.

The over-all Vanguard vehicle intended to hoist a fully instrumented satellite 300 miles above the earth is actually three rockets fitted tandem style, one within the nose of the other. It looks like an elongated rifle shell, 72 feet tall and not quite 4 feet in diameter at its widest point.

Vanguard weighs 22,000 pounds, nearly 90 per cent of it fuel to propel the three states. That's 1,000 pounds of rocket to lift each pound of the 21½-pound satellite it will carry in its nose.

The same 1,000-to-1 ratio has led American engineers to believe Russia must have used a launching vehicle close to 200,000 pounds to boost the Soviet satellite to its successful orbit around the earth. The Russians gave Sputnik's weight as 184 pounds.

To get a monster like Vanguard off the ground will require a closely coordinated effort with precision fueling techniques by technicians at the Cape Canaveral, Fla., launching site, where a Vanguard test vehicle was shot off Wednesday.

Here's how the satellite mission will get under way:

The actual firing probably will take place at night. This is because the fuels to be used are highly explosive in nature and are sensitive to sunlight and heat. Also, atmospherics for visual and radio tracking will be better at night.

The first and second stages of the three-part rocket will have been joined together and tested before the big day. They are mounted on a huge steel-girdered support structure from which last-minute servicing can be made. It holds carbon dioxide and water fog nozzle systems for use in the event of fire, and showers are available for decontamination of personnel.

With the completion of static firing tests of the first stage rocket, Vanguard will be nearly ready for flight. A complete check of its complex electronic and mechanical system comes next. And then, before the fueling and actual firing, comes alignment — one of the most critically accurate final steps.

The huge rocket must be aligned within a tenth of one degree of the vertical. This is accomplished by using grids attached to the vehicle and extremely sensitive optical equipment.

Shortly before firing, the third stage — holding the 20-inch satellite—is installed and aligned. This smallest of the three rockets, five feet in length, uses a solid propellant, something like slow-burning gunpowder.

Grand Central Rocket Co. of Redlands, Calif., made the solid rocket used successfully in a Vanguard test vehicle fired last May 1. Alleghany Ballistics Laboratory of Cumberland, Md., also is working on a third-stage rocket. The decision as to which will be used has yet to be made.

The third stage must be handled like a live bomb. After special slings swing it into position for installation in the nose of the second-stage rocket, the tricky and dangerous fueling operation begins.

A protective blanket is installed around the second stage. This 31-foot-long, 32-inch-wide middle section of Vanguard houses the brain of the entire missile, including control, guidance and programing systems for both the first and second stages. Just ahead of the electronic control section is a magnesium skirt which enfolds the third stage and a rocket-driven turntable which will give the third stage its spin before it separates to enter the orbiting phase.

With the protective blanket in place, propane — a highly flammable gas—is pumped into tanks of the second stage.

All personnel are withdrawn from the immediate area, and the first stage rocket is pressurized with helium. After personnel reenter the area, the main regulator on the first stage rocket is set for the desired flight value.

Next, a high-grade kerosene — the first-stage propellant fuel — is pumped into the rocket and the area flushed with water. The peroxide crew then takes over. Wearing weird white protective suits which could pass for space gear, they fill the hydrogen peroxide tanks in the first stage.

The peroxide you buy at the corner drug store has a concentration of about 3 to 5 per cent. The peroxide being used in Vanguard is more than 90 per cent pure. It will produce steam to drive a turbine which operates a pump for mixing the fuels during the rocket's flight. A harmless appearing, water-like liquid, hydrogen peroxide is esplosively unstable and must be handled with extreme care.

Tanks of the second-stage rocket next are filled with unsymmetrical dimethyl hydrazine — a highly flammable and poisonous high-energy fuel which will have been stored in an isolated area sealed from the air and the direct rays of the sun.

The next fuel — white, fuming nitric acid—is pumped into the second stage. This is the oxidizing agent or igniter which, when mixed with the unsymmetrical dimethyl hydrazine causes an immediate explosion. No spark is needed to set off the fuels and no ignition system is required for this rocket stage.

The thermally unstable white fuming nitric acid is one of the last fuels added before launching because of its highly corrosive quality. In a short time, it could even eat through the rocket's stainless steel walls which, to save weight, also serve as the walls of the fuel tanks.

After a washdown, the second stage blanket is removed and the huge support structure with its 110-foot gantry crane, rolls back on tracks from the nearly primed Vanguard rocket.

The seven-story Vanguard now stands alone on its firing platform with only fuel and pressurization lines connecting it with the ground.

The first-stage igniter is installed next. Unlike the second stage, where the mixing of the fuels causes combustion, the first stage has a mechanical ignition system.

Finally liquid oxygen is pumped into the first stage tanks by remote control from a nearby concrete blockhouse which will protect the scientists and engineers during the actual firing. Although probably the safest of all the fuels to handle, the gas formed by vaporization is highly explosive unless adequately ventilated.

Now the first and second stages again are pressurized with helium and the liquid oxygen tank is topped.

The countdown is now nearing zero. At the last count, a stream of thundering flame blasts from the thrust cylinder, exerting 27,000 pounds of push against the pull of the earth's gravity.

44% Of Arundel Teachers Not Fully Qualified

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 24 (AP)—Forty-four per cent of the public school teachers in Anne Arundel County are teaching this year on emergency certificates.

The Board of Education said today that 580 of the county's 1,305 teachers are working with emergency certification. This number included 349 who do not have bachelor's degrees.

Among the teachers with emergency certificates are college graduates who have failed to complete education courses required by the State Department of Education as standards for certification.

Mrs. Ruth McNelly, comptroller in charge of certification for the board, said many teachers are working to become fully qualified.

In 1953 the State Board of Education set up a requirement that unqualified teachers must obtain six credits every two years as part of a planned program of certification in order to be eligible for pay raises.

Mrs. McNelly said the teacher shortage is striking elementary and junior high schools more severely than high schools. A total of 427 elementary teachers and 111 junior high school teachers hold emergency certificates as compared to 42 in high schools, she said.

Even Arabs Disagree On Meaning Of Arab Unity, Arab Liberation, Arab Nationalism

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

The Arab awakening. Arab unity. Arab liberation. Arab nationalism.

These phrases weave their way daily through news reports from the Middle East.

The terms represent a new force in world politics, a new factor in the search for peace. To cope with them, the West must try to understand them. What do these things mean?

Unluckily for the West, the terms defy any full, lucid explanation. Even the Arabs can't agree on them.

Recently I asked Jordan's young King Hussein, a descendant of the celebrated Sherif Hussein of the 1915 Arab revolt, a Bedouin and a monarch who professes Arab nationalism, to explain the terms.

This is his explanation:

"Arab unity is the ultimate aspiration of Arab nationalism. It is the final guarantee for a prosperous, stable Arab world. A strong Arab unity is the absolute wall against communism and a major guarantee of world peace and prosperity."

Arab unity means one thing to a ruler, another to the Arab in the street.

For the average Arab, the phrase is a rally point for the expression of a struggle against hopelessness. It is a dream of a single Arab nation stretching from the Persian Gulf to the Atlantic.

For the rulers, the idea of a one-world Arab federation is something far, far away in the mists of the future.

"It is premature to state exactly what particular form such unity will take," says King Hussein. "For the time being we strive for military, economic and political unity of effort similar to the unity now existing between the Benelux (Belgium, Netherlands, Luxembourg customs union) countries."

Says Hussein further:

"The Arab world, administratively speaking, is composed of four administrative units: The Fertile Crescent, the Arab Peninsula, the Nile Valley and Arab North Africa. As an Arab nationalist, we visualize very intimate and close cooperation among states in each unit, which must lead necessarily to close cooperation of the units themselves."

Given every favorable condition, Arab unity from the Gulf to the Atlantic couldn't be accomplished in generations. Unity of the Fertile Crescent—Iraq, Syria, Lebanon and Jordan—might be a different thing. It would make for economic viability the area could not hope to achieve in separation. But who would rule? Who would surrender sovereignty?

To the extremist in Syria "liberation" means kicking out all foreign influence. To countries that produce oil it means simply that Western developers avoid any appearance of encroaching on sovereignty.

Yet, for all this, the drive of Pan-Arabism among the Arab masses—the awakening to an old dream of glory lost 12 centuries ago—is a force to reckon with. A U. S. gesture in the direction of Arab nationalism would mean little in terms of any effective Arab action. It would cost nothing. But sympathy for the notion of a reawakened Arab self-respect might help make a start toward recapturing some of America's lost prestige in this area.

Clinton, Md., Man Burned In Explosion

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP) — A Clinton, Md. man was critically burned today in an explosion that blew him through the kitchen door of his home.

Eppa Edwards, 65, was admitted to Casualty Hospital here with burns over 60 per cent of his body. The explosion was touched off when he attempted to light a stove.

Prince Georges County police said the blast blew out a side of the house. Edwards, an engineer employed at St. Elizabeth's Hospital here, ran a quarter of a mile to a brother's home for help.

Board Approves Leave Of Absence

The Civil Service Commission has approved the application of Police Officer Edward P. Wilson for a year's leave of absence.

The Mayor and Council took similar action Monday for the policeman who was injured in an automobile accident several months ago.

The board, at its meeting Tuesday night, began reviewing applications submitted for tests planned Monday for eight city positions. Wallace G. Ullery, secretary, said it appeared that most of the applicants will qualify to take the tests.

Boy Recovering From Surgery To 'Play It Safe'

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24 (AP)—The motto stitched on the colorful pajamas worn by 12-year-old Tommy Coutts is simple and direct: "Play safely."

And Tommy, recovering from delicate eye surgery in White Memorial Hospital, adds: "Boy, you know I'm going to play it safe from now on."

Surgeons are hopeful that Tommy will recover the sight of his right eye, first injured three years ago when he tried to pry a live .22 caliber shell out of a tree in the neighborhood.

Three weeks ago he suffered another injury to the eye while playing softball. This left him with a detached retina, which called for surgery.

First, the surgeon shortened the eye ball. Then he transplanted some vitreous fluid from a local eye bank. And finally, he "cemented" the retina with a high frequency current.

Peiping Could Probably Buy British A-Plant

LONDON, Oct. 24 (AP) — A Red China trade group will visit Britain's model atomic power station Friday and, a British government official said today, Peiping probably could buy a similar plant here if it wants one. It would cost about $47,600,000.

An official of the Calder Hall atomic station told a reporter such a transaction apparently would be possible under Britain's relaxed controls on trade with Peiping.

The official emphasized that no move to purchase a reactor has yet been made by the delegation. It arrived Tuesday to try and expand British-Chinese trade.

He declared also that unless an ironclad security agreement could be worked out, China would have to provide its own uranium to run it. The reactor, in addition to producing power, also produces plutonium used to trigger the hydrogen bomb.

Even in the theoretical stage, the matter of a reactor sale appeared to pose a potentially touchy issue in British-American relations at a moment when Prime Minister Macmillan and President Eisenhower are discussing the possibility of a closer British-American partnership in atomic developments.

Britain and the United States have long disagreed on restrictions of trade between Red China and the West. Britain eased its controls last May over vigorous American objections but retained the right to veto trade orders that might increase China's war potential.

Under present restrictions the reactor, primarily a power plant producing plutonium as a byproduct, would not be affected by these controls. But uranium, the reactor fuel, is included on the list of banned items.

There was no indication that the Chinese would try to buy a reactor.

The clarinet was developed in Nuremberg in 1690.

Freer Flow Of U.S. Scientific Information Forecast

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 24 (AP) — Virginius Dabney, president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, said last night a freer flow of scientific information in this country should be one consequence of the enormous attention given Russia's Sputnik.

Dabney, editor of the Richmond Times-Dispatch, said the Soviet "scientific and psychological triumph" should cause "the abandonment of absurd restrictions affecting our scientific research."

"Perhaps President Eisenhower's conferences with Prime Minister Macmillan will help toward this end, and the President will announce the lifting of unnecessary obstructions in his forthcoming series of addresses," Dabney said.

The Richmond editor said in a statement that the manner in which scientific research has been compartmentalized in the United States has often been criticized. He added that it seems to have been partially responsible for the manner in which the Soviet Union has scored a global "first" with its man-made satellite.

"American scientists given security clearance by their respective branches of our armed services are nevertheless forbidden to communicate with one another," he said. "Thus cross-fertilization of ideas, so vital to scientific progress, is prevented.

"Even more remarkable is the fact that certain scientists working for the same branch of the service are likewise refused permission to consult with one another concerning their research projects.

"It was testified a year ago before the House Government Information subcommittee headed by Rep. John E. Moss of California that three eminent scientists working in the same field of research at three different universities were forbidden to communicate. The result was that two of them became disgusted and abandoned the effort.

"Dr. Lloyd V. Berkner, testifying last year before the Moss subcommittee as president of Associated Universities, Inc., declared that under our security practices the late Albert Einstein could not have developed his mass-energy equivalence theory on which all nuclear development is based. This, said Dr. Berkner, was because the basic information on which he drew would 'certainly' have been classed as secret and would not have been generally available.

"Let us bear in mind that the atom was unlocked by a joint American-British-Canadian project, and that this was made possible by the combined efforts of several famous European scientists."

THIS NEW BANKING SERVICE GIVES YOU IMMEDIATE FINANCIAL SECURITY

You Can Have $500 to $5000
In Your Pay 'N Save Club Account Today

The Pay 'N Save Club is a new kind of banking service—offered only by us in this area.

Its purpose is to enable anyone to acquire a valuable nest egg immediately, at a very low cost.

Not only does the Pay 'N Save Club idea promote the financial security of the individual, but it contributes to the economic stability of our community as well. Furthermore, it helps combat inflation by increasing the amount of money on deposit in savings accounts.

Choose Your Savings Goal

With Pay 'N Save you decide on the savings goal you want for a down payment on a home, a college education for your children, or some other worthwhile purpose—choose any amount from $500 to $5000. You receive your Pay 'N Save Club savings passbook immediately for the full amount of your goal. The entire amount earns the regular rate of compound interest right from the start. You can take up to 5 years to pay by making regular monthly payments.

Free Insurance Protection

We lend you the money for the goal you choose. Should you die unexpectedly, your beneficiary would receive the entire goal in your Pay 'N Save Club savings account. The unpaid balance of your loan would be taken care of through a group creditor life insurance policy. No more payments would be required.

This insurance feature costs you nothing. Anyone up to age 60 is eligible. No medical examination is required. Come in today and let us tell you more about this wonderful new plan for gaining immediate financial security. Or, mail this coupon for more information:

To: Second National Bank, Cumberland, Md.

Please send me, at no cost or obligation, more information about your Pay 'N Save Club.

Sibelius' Death Raises 8th Symphony Question

HELSINKI, Oct. 24 (AP)—Did Jean Sibelius leave a major composition to be published posthumously?

The question was raised when the great Finnish composer died Sept. 20 at age 92.

He wrote all his seven known symphonies before 1930 and musicologists have speculated widely what he may have produced in his last 30 years of life.

Apparently the well had run dry or, more likely, his self-critical powers vetoed what he did produce. There is evidence that he worked on an eighth symphony but found it wanting.

After a search of the studio in his home near Helinski, his eldest daughter, Mrs. Eva Palcheimo, said actually the old genius had not done any serious work on music in a considerable time.

The story is that some years ago he started an eighth and then threw the manuscript in the fireplace. The family explained a symbolism about the funeral. The coffin in the Helsinki cathedral was surrounded by seven large candles, representing his seven symphonies—and no more.

Nils Eric Fougstedt, one of Finland's best-known musicians, who was intimately acquainted with Sibelus, said there is nothing left that has not been given to the world.

"No one expected anything more from him in his last years," he commented.

While in his 80s, Sibelius rehashed some of his lesser efforts. The last known is the "Komme Hierbei, Tod" (Come by, Death) published in Germany and presented in Helsinki this year by Kom Borg, a leading singer.

Atom Engine For Ship

WIESBADEN, Germany, Oct. 24 (AP)—Prof. E. Bagge of Kiel University told atomic scientists here that a West German test model of an atom-powered ship engine will be ready in early 1959.

Make no mistake about it — walking's a pleasure.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Talk About Your Walk

Anyone who doesn't feel fit as a fiddle swinging along on foot on a brisk fall day is missing one of the pleasures of being alive.

Isn't it lucky that walking's so good for you, since it's so much fun? It should be part of every sound health and beauty program. It takes you places, changes the scenery, clears the air. A good walk refreshes and stimulates and is escape from nervous tension. Yes, indeed — and it's pure enjoyment with this fall tang in the air.

The physically able woman who doesn't enjoy walking is making one of three unnecessary mistakes. She hasn't come to terms with her footwear — she hasn't learned how many, comfortable, good looking shoes there are for her type of foot, whatever it is. Or she doesn't walk properly. Or she has a fixed idea that walking is too tiring for her, which can only be the result of one of the other mistakes.

Settle The Problem

Settle the footwear problem by taking the shoe specialist's advice. Let him fit you the way he thinks you should be fit in a handsome walking shoe — don't insist on a certain size. Even shoes by the same maker vary in more ways than pattern; and it's the fit that counts, of course, not numbers or letters.

Then, to walk properly, clear up any posture fault first, including a tendency to lock your knees stiffly, which can spoil a walk by itself. Get spring into your step and swing along, chin up, stretching your legs in a strong, exhilirating rhythm. Don't lag or break stride — the pitch of rhythm must be sustained so you'll enjoy the walk most and so it can do you the most good. Hit your own pace and there'll be no feeling of strain. There will be a feeling that you're on your way in more ways than one — most importantly, to that daily program of walking you always meant to go in for some day.

TOMORROW: Measure Up.

101.2 Below Zero

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 24 (AP) — Rear. Adm. Rodolfo Panzarini, director of Argentina's Antarctic Institute, reports the lowest natural temperature ever recorded on earth was minus 74 centigrade (101.2 below zero Fahrenheit) on Sept. 17 at the geographic South Pole. He told scientists here that an even lower reading may be recorded there.

Scouts Leaders To Attend Annual Regional Meeting

Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be well represented at the annual meeting of Region 3, BSA, which will be held this weekend in Washington.

The region is comprised of Maryland, Pennsylvania, Delaware, District of Columbia, and parts of West Virginia and Virginia.

Dr. Thomas Bess, Keyser, council president, the only Scouter from Potomac Council who has ever been on the executive board of the region, will participate in the program.

He will speak at a meeting of council presidents on ideas of increasing Boy Scout membership.

Potomac Council ranks second in the region from the standpoint of increase in membership, and is one of the few in the nation having an upward trend.

Miles G. Thompson Sr., Nemacolin Trail District commissioner, former council president, and a member of the council's executive board will also speak.

His topic will be the training of commissioners at a session of council and district commissioners. According to Willis V. Smith, council executive, Thompson has done a remarkable job in neighborhood commissioner training in his district.

Attending, besides Dr. Bess and Thompson, will be Mrs. Bess and Mrs. Thompson; Dr. and Mrs. Donald P. Whitworth, Westernport; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Park, Petersburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Smith.

Macmillan Vetoes TV

LONDON, Oct. 24 (AP) — One of Prime Minister Macmillan's last acts before flying to Washington conferences with President Eisenhower was to veto TV at the opening of Britain's Parliament by Queen Elizabeth II Nov. 5.

She recently opened Canada's Parliament on TV and BBC asked to set up cameras in the House of Lords here.

Former Local Pastor To Give Vocal Concert In Washington

A former local pastor, who was one of the first boys to be enrolled in the Strawbridge Home for Boys at Sykesville, will present a concert in Washington next month for the benefit of the Methodist-supported institution.

He is Rev. James A. Richards, pastor of St. James Methodist Church, Elizabeth, N. J., and former pastor of First Methodist Church here. His baritone concert will be presented at 8:15 p. m. Tuesday, November 5, at Foundry Methodist Church, 16th and P streets in northwest Washington.

Rev. Mr. Richards entered the Strawbridge Home in 1924, and graduated as the best boy student in the 1932 class of Sykesville High School. He was awarded a voice scholarship at his graduation and made frequent singing engagements to earn his way through college. He graduated from Western Maryland College in 1936 and received a B. D. degree in 1941 from Westminster Theological Seminary. Rev. Mr. Richards was also awarded an honorary degree from the seminary in 1951.

He studied music at the Peabody Conservatory of Music in Baltimore and has sung in recitals in that area since 1932. Rev. Mr. Richards has been soloist with the Handel Choir in Baltimore, with the Richmond Choral Soceity of New York; at the Ocean Grove, N. J., auditorium and the Staten Island (N. Y.) Symphony Orchestra.

He will be accompanied by Collins Smith, a graduate of the Julliard School of Music who has toured as accompanist for many of the Metropolitan and Columbia Concert artists.

Paradise For Quacks

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 24 (AP) — Dr. Luis Augusto Mendez, head of the rural medical school of Polytecnico University, says more than 80 per cent of Mexico's country people are treated by witch doctors and quacks. He urges tighter medical laws and urges young students to take up career medicine.

Marine Celebration Is Set November 8

The Sixth Special Infantry Company will celebrate the 182d birthday of the U. S. Marine Corps with a birthday dance.

The birthday of the Corps falls on Sunday, November 10, but the local Marine Reserve unit will hold its celebration on Friday, November 8, according to Capt. Richard V. Molesky, USMC.

Capt. Molesky said yesterday the celebration will be held at the Ali Ghan City Club, 123 South Centre Street, from 8 p. m. until midnight. A birthday cake cutting ceremony will be featured.

Tickets for the affair may be obtained from members of the local unit or by telephoning the Marine Corps Training Center on McKaig's Hill.

Club Savings Increase Noted At Local Banks

Santa Claus will arrive a little early this year for some 8,153 area residents.

Santa will be in the form of an estimated $808,996.30 which will be distributed by Cumberland's five financial institutions.

The institutions will mail checks about the middle of November for members of their Christmas Savings Clubs.

A check yesterday with the five institutions in Cumberland revealed that fewer people built a "nest egg" for this Christmas, but the ones who did join clubs saved more money than last year.

During 1956 the local firms distributed $749,094.25, while during the present year a total of $808,996.30 was saved, which represents an increase of $59,902.05 over the previous year.

This year a total of 8,153 persons joined clubs, a decrease of 312 when compared to the 8,465 who joined in 1956.

The Liberty Trust Company will begin mailing checks on November 18 and will have a total of 312,126.30 to send out to 2,572 club members.

The First National Bank will mail its checks November 9. The institution will be mailing an estimated $163,000 to some 1,924 club members. These figures represent an increase of $27,000 to 155 more members then in 1956.

The Second National Bank will start mailing Christmas checks on November 15 to 1,000 members in the amount of $85,000. In 1956 the bank had 870 members saving $71,570.

The First Federal Savings Company will mail checks totaling $150,000 to 1,869 persons on November 18. Last year the firm mailed checks to 1,619 people in the amount of $115,513.

The Cumberland Savings Bank in South End will mail out an estimated $98,770 to 788 persons beginning November 9. The bank's totals for 1956 were 754 members getting $64,125.

Man Is Guilty On Auto Counts

An unemployed father of ten children was committed to the Allegany County Jail yesterday for 120 days after being found guilty of three serious motor vehicle violations.

Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick ordered Emory Robertson, 38, of RD 3, Valley Road, committed to jail when he was unable to pay fines totaling $302.95. He was found guilty of leaving the scene of an accident and two other motor violations.

The man was apprehended by Maryland State Police a short time after he had rammed his automobile into a utility pole on Wineow Street.

Officer Harry Iser of the Cumberland Police Department, who investigated the mishap at 8:30 p. m., said Carol Ann Robertson, 11-year-old daughter of the driver, was badly injured in the crash.

Officer Iser said the child was taken to Memorial Hospital by a passing motorist. She was reported in "good" condition yesterday with lacerations of her forehead.

Outer Space Issue

MONTREAL, Oct. 24 (AP) — Sputnik will rear its spinning head at the 21-nation International Civil Aviation Council meeting here Nov. 18. It is raising the question of sovereignty over outer space.

Officials say there must be some definition of how much space a nation may control.

And some predict this means that for space-prowling earthmen there may be a U.N.-policed international realm of the high air comparable with the free high seas.

Trick-Or-Treat Event Planned For UNICEF

The United Church Women of Cumberland will sponsor a "trick or treat" program on Halloween evening, with the proceeds earmarked for UNICEF, the United Nations children's fund.

Mrs. F. Lee Fresh, president of the United Church Women, said about 15 affiliated churches are participating in the program, with a number of them planning individual UNICEF appeals.

Children of the churches will go from door to door in their neighborhoods asking for pennies or small change in place of the customary "trick or treat," Mrs. Fresh said.

The appeal will take place from St. Mark's United Church of Christ where an educational program centered on UNICEF work will be presented.

The children, Mrs. Fresh emphasized, will be identified by orange-colored tags and canisters carrying the initials of the United Nations agency.

Churches participating in the program, according to Mrs. Henry T. Pyles, general chairman, are Centre Street Methodist, Emmanuel Episcopal, First Presbyterian, First Christian, Grace Baptist, Kingsley Methodist, St. Luke's Lutheran, St. Mark's, Central Methodist, McKendree Methodist, First Methodist, Zion Evangelical Reformed and St. Paul's Lutheran.

The latter church, Mrs. Pyles said, will conduct its appeal independently, with the children scheduled to return to the church for a party.

First Evangelical United Brethren Church will conduct its UNICEF campaign today, according to Mrs. Ralph Isiminger, church chairman. The children will assemble at the church at 6 p. m., and after returning from their appeal will be entertained at a party at the church.

Plan Trail Ride

The Potomac Valley Riding Club will hold a trail ride Sunday at 11 a. m. from Woodland Inn, Route 28.

City's Finances Normal As First Quarter Ends

Collections and spending of the City of Cumberland appeared to be about on schedule as the first quarter of the fiscal year ended September 30.

A report on the condition of the levy and appropriations, issued yesterday by City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson, showed that $364,554.16, or 18 per cent of the $2,005,860 levy had come in during the first three months.

The major portion of the income was the $237,500 which was left over when the 1956-57 fiscal year ended on June 30. Such surpluses automatically become a part of the next year's budget.

Collected on the 1957-58 tax levy was $62,095.16, or five per cent of the $1,207,630 property tax levy. This represents one day's collections, made on September 30 after bills were received over the weekend.

The only major receipts from state collected funds was $32,095.60 of the $40,000 expected as the city's share on state racing income.

During the first three months, the various departments of the city spent $373,973.14, or 22½ per cent of the $1,663,326 operating appropriations. This was 2½ points below par for the quarter.

Most departments appeared to be operating within their budgets.

Circuit Court Grants Divorces

Some 13 divorces have been granted in Allegany County Circuit Court.

John Parch obtained a divorce from Louise Parch. Raymond Frederick Maphis was granted a divorce from Dorothy Ellen Maphis and she was given custody of their five infant children. Betty LaRue Humbertson obtained a divorce from Francis George Humbertson Sr. Mary Margaret McGinn was awarded a divorce from William James McGinn and custody of their minor child.

Margaret Virginia Dela Grange obtained a divorce from John M. Dela Grange and the right to resume use of her former name of Margaret Virginia Gornall. Anna Apple was granted a divorce from Richard E. Apple and custody of their two minor children. Emma M. Jones obtained a divorce from John A. Jones and custody of their minor child. Norma L. Knepp won a divorce from James H. Knepp and custody of their two minor children.

Gladys H. Andrews obtained a divorce from Thomas A. Andrews. Rollena E. Ward was granted a divorce from Nelson Charles Ward and custody of their two infant children. Julia M. Hovatter obtained a divorce from Elmer C. Hovatter. Eleanor Kathleen Dyche was granted a divorce from Ralph Leon Dyche and the right to resume use of her maiden name of Eleanor Kathleen Ruppenkamp.

Timely Discussion

TORONTO, Oct. 24 (AP)—Parents leaving a night schoolhouse meeting at suburban Ionview found pranksters had let the air out of tires on a dozen cars. Their meeting featured a panel discussion on disciplining of children.

Along The Potomac
by Rep. De Witt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON — Each of us wants the cost of running the Federal Government reduced, and we applaud every effort to cut waste and duplication from departmental appropriations. Too, we are aware of the fact that there are differences of opinion as to the amounts necessary to pursue definite national programs or objectives; but there are some area in which we must carefully weigh the price we pay for reduced budgets. National safety is one of those areas.

A major debate will again characterize the Congress' consideration of funds for national defense next session. I think that it is imperative that we make full use of this country's scientific manpower and resources in our battle against the spread of communism. I have in the past supported the maximum appropriations necessary to carry on the Defense Department's research and development programs. I will continue to do so as long as our national safety is in danger.

Modern weapons and the continuing war against the spread of communism require a high degree of specialization in our defense program. Such specialization is costly and a part of the price we must pay for national safety. But such expenditures must be made in such a way so as not to endanger the economic strength of the country.

I think that it is unfortunate that there is so much misunderstanding about the aims and objectives of the Mutual Security program. It is our nation's insurance against aggression. It includes funds for our national defense and for military and economic assistance to the nations allied with us in waging the peace.

It is easy, perhaps, to see justification for military expenditures. But what about economic assistance? Economic aid is just plain good business. The raising of the standard of living in the nations of the world will help—not hurt us. This ideal is, of course, for all countries to have the same high standard of living. But such a world is a long, long way off. Nevertheless, only then will there be complete freedom to carry on unhampered trade. The barrier to free trade is national differences in standards of living. Low living standards permit low unit-costs of production and the nations with high standards must protect themselves whenever low cost goods threaten their way of life.

Pay Television Brings A Question

After discussing the matter for five years, the Federal Communications Commission has finally decided to permit pay television for an experimental three-year period.

If a segment of the public is ready and willing to pay for the privilege of seeing better TV programs than are now available free over the air, and if companies are ready and willing to provide this fare, there seems to be no reason why the government should stand in the way.

Opponents of free television argue that the United States has always had a tradition of free broadcasts and free telecasts, and that the competition of subscription TV will probably ruin the existing system and deprive the public of free entertainment.

However, the tradition of free competitive enterprise is far older in this country than that of free TV, and the contention that subscription TV would ruin what is now available is no more than an opinion with no substantiating facts.

Pay TV is already being tried out on a small scale in one city over leased wires which are not subject to FCC regulation. Experience there, although limited, shows that many persons are willing to pay for the privilege of seeing first-run movies over their home TV sets without the intrusion of commercials.

There are plenty of excellent programs available which are seen rarely because there are few sponsors able or willing to pay the cost of putting them on TV. Pay TV may open up a whole new field of entertainment to the home viewer and a whole new source of revenue to the performing arts by splitting the costs among large numbers of persons willing to pay for a better caliber of shows than they can get regularly free of charge.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Aftermath

Elizabeth II and Philip of Edinburgh have come and gone. They have been dined and wined and applauded and cheered. The President has appeared in a photograph wearing a British order around his neck, a novelty in our way of life. A research student in history, with a grant from one of the Foundations that have such a trying time spending their money, might do a research job to discover whether a President of the United States has ever worn a foreign decoration in the presence of a visiting monarch. It is an interesting detail for which a fellow might earn a Ph.D.

After the delightful Queen and her fortunate Philip, comes the British Prime Minister who is the working head of the British government and is here not to win good-will but to do some kind of business. The Queen's visit having been a great success, which is beyond doubt true, the Prime Minister follows up to see what can be done about the loose ends in the Anglo-American Alliance.

There is little question but that the shrewdest statesman in the world today is Nikita Khrushchev who has achieved by maneuvering and propaganda the elimination of Great Britain and France from the Arab world in Asia and much of Africa. This weakens the century-old hold of Great Britain on the Mediterranean and the routes to India. The removal of British control over Suez, Egypt and Sudan was a blow greater than any suffered by Western Europe in either World War I or World War II. Thus, Soviet Russia started the process of becoming the successor to the British Empire in Africa and Asia.

This and not the Sputnik is Khrushchev's audaciously brilliant achievement. There can be no question but that he understood the purport of American anti-imperialism and anti-colonialism and took full advantage of it. Thus he was able to use the United States to damage Great Britain and France and to imperil NATO.

On the other hand, it is not a decisive victory. Unquestionably, Soviet Russia's coup in Syria has frightened Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Jordan, Iraq, Iran and Israel. What keeps the Arabian countries together is their emotionalism over the existence of Israel. I am willing to risk a blind guess that the day is not too distant when Egypt will sit down with Israel to straighten out their border problems and when Israel will sit down with Egypt and Jordan to deal with the thunderously unpleasant subject of Arab refugees. Unless Soviet Russia can bring on a local war in the Near East before these two irritants are disposed of, it is altogether possible that Egypt will find a way to turn westward as the only hope for independence.

Such a diversion would strengthen Great Britain's position throughout the world and there can be no question but that British diplomacy is aimed to preserve Arabian oil for Western Europe and Arabian and North African trade for Great Britain. Much can be done by the British, if the United States does not upset the applecart as we did over Suez.

This is one problem which concerns the British. Another is Red China. The British have been hypnotized by the possibility of a schism in the Communist world between Soviet Russia and Red China. They have believed this possible since 1950. It has not occurred. It is not likely that it will occur in any short enough period to be important now. Maoist China and Khrushchev's Russia have no ground for quarrel except that China's demands are too great for Russia to meet. But then both the Chinese and the Russians have known of old that China always demands at least twice as much as is necessary in the hope of getting a little more than was really expected.

The British would like to dominate at least the south China trade and possibly the Yangtze trade and to get back some of their sequestered capital investments. Nobody can blame them for wanting. Also nobody can blame them for hoping that the United States will go along. Not even the Eisenhower Administration which often ignores public opinion can risk that scandal while Americans are still prisoners in Red China. It will be a mistake to raise the question here.

The Handle Makes It A Weapon

Mystery Surrounds Six Satellites In U.S. Army Alabama Warehouse

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—One of the unpublished facts about the American "sputnik" snafu is that the Army has six satellites in a warehouse in Huntsville, Ala., all ready to launch. They could have been launched before the sputnik, thus keeping the USA ahead of the USSR in science, and preventing one of the greatest psychological defeats the United States ever suffered.

But for some strange and mysterious reason, difficult to fathom, the Army was under orders not to launch these satellites.

About three months ago, the Budget Bureau, which operates directly under the White House, actually sent auditors to the Army's Redstone Arsenal at Huntsville, to make sure the Army did not spend a nickel on the satellite program.

The six satellites, now gathering cobwebs in a Huntsville warehouse are complete with fibre-glass, radio transmitter and gyro mechanism. They are elongated in shape, nicknamed by the Army the "baseball bat."

In trying to track down the reason why these satellites were side-tracked, this column ran into rigid government censorship. Every official connected with the military phase of the satellite program has been ordered not to talk to the press.

As far as can be ascertained, however, it was stringent economy and fear that the Eisenhower Administration might break through the debt ceiling regarding which Republicans had severely criticized the Truman Administration, that caused the peremptory order from the Budget Bureau. However, there were other important factors involved earlier, in switching the satellite program away from the Army. These also are hard to track down. But careful digging has brought to light the following facts.

Hitler Held Back Too

The Army project at Huntsville dates back to early 1954 when Dr. Fred Singer of the University of Maryland, Dr. Fred Whipple, Director of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Laboratory, and Dr. Werner von Braun, the German rocket scientist, meeting in Washington outlined a plan to launch a man-made moon into the heavens.

Van Braun is the scientist who helped build the V-2 rocket for Hitler which caused such havoc in Britain toward the end of World War II. If it had been developed earlier, some military experts believe it might have knocked Britain out of the war. Von Braun, incidentally, had great trouble getting enough money out of Hitler, just as he has had trouble getting funds from Eisenhower. Von Braun is now an American citizen.

The satellite program back in 1954 called "Operation Orbiter" was made a joint interservice operation, though technically under the jurisdiction of the Navy. The Army's part of the operation was probably the most important — namely, to prepare the rocket gear for launching the satellite into space. To do this, the Army planned to use a big Redstone missile with a cluster of smaller Loki missiles.

Getting the satellite off the ground into outer space requires tremendous force, and one reason U. S. scientists are convinced Russia has the ICBM (intercontinental ballistic missile) is because a missile of major power must have been used to launch the sputnik.

The Army actually let a contract to the Aerophysics Corporation for the designing of the Loki cluster, plus another contract to the Alabama Engineering and Tool Company to start building a composite missile, namely a big Redstone with the cluster of Lokis.

The work of the Navy in this partnership program was to put the instruments into the satellite, do the tracking after it was launched.

The work of the Air Force was to supply the logistics.

The work of Dr. Fred Singer at the University of Maryland was to design the satellite itself.

Teamwork between the services seemed to be excellent. The Navy, working with the Varo Manufacturing Company, made progress in studying the tracking of the satellite once it started whirling around the earth, and the project got so far that two ships under the command of Comdr. George Hoover were scheduled to be equipped to leave for the tracking stations.

Sudden Cancellation

Then suddenly, the Defense Department cancelled Operation Orbiter.

Cancellation was made on the recommendation of the so-called Stewart Committee, a group of government scientists headed by Dr. Homer Stewart of Cal Tech University. It renamed the project "Operation Vanguard," selected a brand-new Navy proposal for launching the satellite, and placed it entirely under the Navy. Previously the Navy was in charge of the instrument and the tracking, but not the launching. Now the Navy was also given the toughest job of all — the launching—though it had little previous experience in this phase of the program.

Left out in the cold were the Army and Dr. von Braun, previously in charge of the launching; also Dr. Singer.

Reasons for this switch will be the subject of a future column. Meanwhile Dr. von Braun is convinced that if Operation Orbiter had been left alone, the Army could have launched a satellite far ahead of the sputnik. In fact, the Army claims privately that any one of the six satellites assembled at Huntsville could have been launched six months ago instead of gathering cobwebs in an Alabama warehouse.

Note — President Eisenhower made an official announcement July 29, 1955 of the Operation Vanguard program. This column published the news on July 22.

Profit Squeeze And Economic Readjustment

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—In contrast to October 1929, when the first major readjustment in business came suddenly and with severe shocks just eleven years after World War I, so in October 1957, just twelve years after the close of World War II, there is another economic recession going on but of a different kind. The nation is taking this change in its stride in what may be termed a "rolling readjustment."

War always brings on an artificial economy that lasts long after the fighting stops. But the pressure of natural forces begins and moves inexorably onward. Unhappily, in the year 1950—just five years after the end of World War II—the Korean War broke out and arrested this movement. Far from being just a local conflict, the Far Eastern war did have immediate effects on the American economy, setting off another wave of government spending and inflationary trends.

But now—just about four years after the end of the Korean War—the national economy is trying again to get back to normal. The news from the economic front every day shows some changes that are painful at the moment but which, if viewed in the long-range perspective, may be healthy—that is unless some more artificiality is injected through political action.

Early this year businessmen complained of government spending and the huge federal budgets. Their theory was that tax relief might come if spending by government could be replaced by more private spending. But it was not as simple as it appeared. For as long as Russia, with its threat to world peace, continues to compel America to spend $38 billion or more a year for armament, there can be no such thing as a completely natural economy for America or for the rest of the world.

The pains of readjustment—the instinctive struggle to get back to the natural laws of supply and demand—continue nevertheless in all parts of the world. England and France are having readjustment troubles of a critical nature.

In America the stock market fell the other day to its lowest point in two years—as the traders see ahead the drop in corporate earnings which is inevitable for many companies, especially some of those which are not in the number one or number two position within an industry.

There is, of course, much talk nowadays about "the profit squeeze." It is really here. It has been going on for the last three years but now appears to be approaching a climax. It will not affect the top companies so much as it will hurt the marginal companies. Union labor's leadership, which is as yet blind to what is going on, is planning just the same to keep up its demands for more pay and more fringe benefits—both of which, of course, take big sums out of the profit side.

What all this adds up to is that the process of readjustment will strike industry after industry, causing more and more mergers and hence more and more unemployment. It is only when the marginal or high-cost smaller companies in an industry have orders and when over-all demand is brisk that there is full employment.

The headlines every day tell the story of the readjustment that's in progress. One, in The Wall Street Journal, says: "Factories' backlogs slip, threatening new cutbacks in production." Another headline tells how scrap-iron prices are falling—always a sign that steel isn't moving forward to full production. Indeed, steel is operating at only 80 per cent of capacity, and that's a significant sign of the times. Wholesale prices are wavering. Chain stores report their smallest gain since March. The production rate of paper products is falling. Cost-cutting is starting in many industries, with some lay-offs, which is always the result of profit squeezes.

Stuck off in the back pages of the newspapers is the most significant item of all—the announcement by the Department of Commerce that corporation profits in the second quarter were down and that a "narrowing in percentage margins" has taken place despite increased volume of sales. This will bring renewed pressure for a reduction in corporation taxes.

National income as a whole was up in the first half of the year, largely because of the higher trends in compensation to employes. This is what is eating away at profits and eventually must force some companies to the wall, with unemployment as a consequence.

How far this "rolling readjustment" may go is anybody's guess at the moment, but there's no denying that a major change in the economy is in process of evolution this year. It may be expected to continue as the nation strives to make the big transition from an artifical economy in which armament and unproductive goods and higher natural economy in which more and more productive goods and higher and higher productivity per man hour are the main goals.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Bums' move to Los Angeles didn't peel any more artichokes than Security Council moving to Tokyo.

Japan just made it by unanimous vote of some to any. As usual Moscow kicked up sand bottom and Pakistan abstained.

This life-long membership is on a temporary basis of two years. Subject to good behavior, evaporation in transit and rising costs.

The Kremlin prefers its own brand of security with tanks, purges and fair trials by post-humous juries. It doesn't trust Tokyo any further than you can bend a spoon.

The return of the prodigal sons of the sun is as astonishing as a growl in a basinette. It's only sixteen years since they dropped that egg at Pearl Harbor. Now, butter wouldn't melt in their mouths if they had a fever.

They'll be on probation for two semesters. If they make good they will be permitted to carry senior portfolios.

Which proves we are always ready to forgive and forget our enemies even as they did unto us. The pay-off at Hiroshima was no broadside from a waffle iron.

Atom Depth Charges

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Oct. 24—(INS)—Only two months to Christmas. Must remember to mail my 1956 Christmas cards soon.

The Navy has announced it has atomic depth charges, and has supplied elements of the fleet with same.

How will the ships or planes escape, after heaving the charges? Must this not be done at low level? The escape problem has been a source of concern to our military people ever since a handful of men at Los Alamos and the Pentagon concluded that (A) there could be an atomic explosion, and (B) it would carry with it, in addition to rays and radioactive fall-out, the wallop of 20,000 tons of TNT.

The B-29 crews based at Tinian practiced escape methods for weeks before we knew we actually had a bomb whose dropping would endanger the dropping craft and its crew. They complained bitterly at this ceaseless nonsense, and also because they were ordered to ditch a mock-up of the A-bomb here and there near Tinian, in shallow water, and report accurately on where the thing had been deposited.

"What's this all about?" one of the pilots demanded one day of Brig. Gen. Tom Farrell. "We dropped thousands of bombs on Europe. Why will we have to be so careful with this one?"

"Well," said Farrell, "for one thing, this one you're going to drop cost just about as much as the whole U.S.S. Missouri."

("One way you look at it," said Farrell's superior, Lt. Gen. Leslie R. Groves later, "the bombs we dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki cost $1,000,000,000 each—for it cost $2,000,000,000 to produce them.")

On the occasion of the gripe, Gen. Farrell also was permitted to reveal the need for extreme care after the drop. Every other high altitude bomber since the birth of military aviation had dropped its load, passed over the explosion below with usually not a bump, and gone on about its business. But the A-bombers had to figure out the best means of putting as much of an air cushion between themselves and the atomic detonation as was possible.

In time, by means of a wing-straining 180-degree turn the moment the A-bomb was clear of the prop wash, a B-29 flying at 30,000 could get perhaps 10 to 12 miles away from the blast. Even that wasn't comfortable.

"It felt as if Superman swam under us and hit us twice in the belly with a telephone pole," a man aboard the Nagasaki bomber told us later.

As for the H-bomb, the B-52 eight-jet bomber which dropped the only American one known to have been dropped—in May 1956 at the Eniwetok proving ground—it survived an infinitely more powerful shock than erupted from the two A-bombs dropped in World War II. But the speed of the B-52 is such that by the time all hell broke loose below and to the rear, it probably was escaping at almost the speed of sound, which is also the speed of a shock-wave.

And, also, what will the Navy's A-charges do to fisheries?

War certainly has become complicated since a cave man, fellow named Ug, started the whole weapons system by picking up a rock and belting his ever-loving over the noggin. But he, too, one supposes, eventually had to ponder the escape problem.

Cheer up. The Russians aren't ahead of us in everything scientific. Take the matter of fixing races. There's been recently an expose in the U.S.S.R. to the effect that a number of Moscow trotting races probably have been but seamy travesties on the truth.

We beat them to that kind of fraud by a good century, and now have gone into a state of being in which the trots are so profit-making that hardly nobody cheats any more, in fear of being boosted into a new tax bracket.

But don't let the Russians tell you that Sputnik is not a military weapon. What else was it that made that direct hit on our stock market last week?

Window cleaners, perched breathtakingly against the glittering glass tower that is the United Nations Secretariat building, are giving the place its regularly scheduled scrubbing.

They are in a good position to place on each window a bit of black crepe. Just one year ago, Hungary, surging with a new life that thrilled all mankind, was about to be betrayed and then crushed by UN member Russia's Red Army.

Flying Is Out For People With Certain Ailments

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

With the advent of cold weather, many northerners are planning to vacation in the south. Some will drive; others will go by bus or train. When it comes to flying, persons with heart trouble, high blood pressure, or the residuals of a stroke may hesitate. Most of their concern is for naught because almost everyone can fly in planes equipped with pressurized cabins.

It is safe for an individual with heart disease to travel by air if he can walk down the street or up a flight of stairs without discomfort. But if he is dropsical or so short of breath he pants even when lying down, plane travel is out. The victim of coronary thrombosis should not fly for a minimum of six weeks after the attack, as it takes this long for the heart to heal.

Flying in a pressurized cabin will not raise blood pressure but the excitement of traveling and the anxiety of flying might have this effect on the hypertensive. Air sickness may do the same.

The Flying Physicians association does not believe that pregnant women beyond the eighth month should travel by air. The same applies to pregnant women who habitually miscarry, to infants under 14 days of age, to patients with marked anemia, and to diabetics who cannot administer their own insulin or who are subject to unusual reactions or coma.

Flying may aggravate any active lung disease, as well as nasal congestion, colds, and other upper respiratory disorders. In these instances, altitude may encourage spread of the infection to the ears and sinuses. Persons with a contagious disease are forbidden to travel by air, not because it affects the illness but because the disease may be transmitted to others.

The association does not recommend flying for mental patients and for those who do not have control over bodily functions. In the same category are persons with a wired jaw, large unsupported hernia, intestinal obstruction, draining or open abdominal wounds, gangrene, peptic ulcer that is threatening to perforate, or individuals who have had surgery within 10 days.

BLUE BABY SURGERY

Mrs. J. writes: If a blue baby has a successful operation, can the family plan on a normal life for her — or only nearly so?

REPLY

This depends upon the nature of the defect. Ask the surgeon if the child will be normal, and if not, a modified regimen should be planned. The youngster should be allowed to grow and develop naturally with as few restrictions as possible. In this way he will not go through the emotional trauma of thinking he is different and will not develop into a cardiac cripple.

SKIN CANCER

G. M. writes: A neighbor recently had a series of skin lesions removed from her face. Her doctor told her they were skin cancer of low grade malignancy. What is meant by this term?

REPLY

Some cancers grow and spread rapidly and may kill within six months. These lesions are highly malignant. Most skin cancers are at the other end of the line. They grow slowly and may exist for a year or more without spreading.

CLOT PREVENTIVE

J. F. writes: Is it advisable for a normal healthy person to take an anticoagulant to prevent the possible formation of blood clots?

REPLY

It can be done — at the expense of becoming a bleeder. In this respect it is better to take an outside chance on developing a clot in the blood vessels, especially when there is no indication that a susceptibility to this condition exists.

SCIATICA AND DISK

F. T. writes: Does sciatica usually mean a slipped disk?

REPLY

Yes, in more than 90 per cent of the cases. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on sciatica.

TOMORROW: Precipitants of epileptic seizures.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped enlevope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

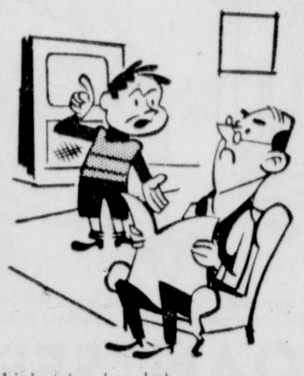

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A 6-year-old watched a ballet for the first time on television, and was particulary puzzled when the chorus pirouetted about the stage on their toes. "Why," he asked his dad, "don't they just hire taller girls?"

A man in Spokane advertised for a wife, and boasted that he received 200 replies. "What did the answers read like?" he was asked. "Most of them," he admitted, "said 'You can have mine.'"

Billy Wilder has an idea for the most stupendous giveaway show of all. Every contestant is a millionaire to start with; if he misses a question, he gets so much money he's forced into a higher tax bracket.

"Never judge a woman by her clothes," advises a most observing judge. "There isn't enough evidence."

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

American scientists disagree over how long the sputnik will keep going. All they're sure of is, when it does fizzle, that will not be the last they'll hear of it.

Congress is pretty wrought up about Russia beating the U. S. with an earth satellite. They voted all that money, and it's Russia that's having a ball.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 24 (INS)—Quite a teaming, luscious red-headed Rhonda Fleming and cowboy Guy Madison in an outdoor drama with the wow title, "Bullwhipped." Putting Guy and Rhonda together is the work of agent Helen Ainsworth who is producer of the picture under the executive producer guidance of William F. Broidy for an Allied Artists release.

"Bullwhipped," which rolls in Cinemascope and color on November 11, is the story of a woman operator of a trade line and her stormy romance with a cowboy drifter.

Despite the fact that Rhonda has been clicking as a nightclub singer and has just cut her first album for Columbia records, she won't do any crooning to Guy "Wild Bill Hickok" Madison.

Louella Parsons, reporting from New York: "Shelley Winters called to tell me that she and Farley Granger will be co-starred in an hour and a half show, a TV play titled "Beyond This Place"—A. J. Cronin's famous story, which Sidney Lumet will direct for CBS. Remember when Farley was head man in Shelley's life?

"She also told me, 'I think James Mason will be in it, too. I've received a screen treatment of the same play for a motion picture, and I'm very interested.' Shelley says quite definitely that she and Tony Franciosa are not expecting a baby. 'When we settle down in one place, possibly next year, well start raising a family. I hope' is the way the one and only Shelley puts it."

Although Ingrid Bergman is late in joining Cary Grant in London for "Kind Sir," Warners are granting her 10 additional days to spend with her children in Italy. She's weary from her long run in "Tea and Sympathy" on the Paris stage and needs the short rest as well as the reunion with her three children.

Whether or not Rossellini is still there when Ingrid arrives in Rome next week, or has returned to "editing film" in India, remains to be seen. There are a lot of sceptics both here and abroad who weren't overly impressed with that big kiss-and-make-up scene between Ingrid and Roberto at Orly airfield.

Looks as if Glenn Ford and MGM are married. Glenn's current contract doesn't expire until December, 1959, and the studio already has signed him to a new long term deal starting after that! Seems to me Glenn can take a bow. MGM has let more stars go than any other big studio.

Right after the first of the year, Ford starts "Imitation General," the story of a World War II sergeant who takes over when his general is killed and saves his unit from destruction. It's a magazine story by William Chamberlain, scripted by William Bowers, with William Hawks producing.

Hollywood and New York in shorts:

Mac Krim was sent an invitation to "Pal Joey," (his ex girl Kim Novak's picture) but he didn't show up.

And here's the newest from New York reported by L O P: "When leaving Queen Elizabeth's luncheon, I ran into Margaret Truman, who has never looked as beautiful. Her skin is like porcelain and she's radiant with happiness over her baby and handsome husband Clifton Daniel.

"She told me she will be in Hollywood for a Matinee Theatre TV show on November 14, a straight dramatic show. She's also booked for a Gisele MacKenzie program. It's great she's continuing her career, it's good for any woman no matter how happily married."

Two Airmen Escape Injury In Crash

Two GIs from the Langley Air Force Base in Virginia escaped serious injury yesterday when they crashed their automobile on Town Hill Mountain.

Troopers George Robinson and Willis Foreman of the Maryland State Police, who investigated, said the unusual mishap occurred at 7:50 a. m. on the west side of the mountain.

Police said the car, driven by Harold F. McCullough, 21, of Clayton, N. Y., was traveling west on the highway when it went out of control.

The car went off the right side of the road, smashed several guard rails, shot back across the highway, through six guard rails and finally came to rest in front of a tree. The car was demolished, police said.

Police said McCullough and a passenger, Ronald Jaworski, Bridgeport, Ohio, were traveling from the Air Force Base to Jaworski's home in Ohio.

The GIs were taken to Memorial Hospital where McCullough was treated for lacerations of his face and forehead, and Jaworski was treated for minor lacerations of the face.

Police said McCullough walked out of the hospital with ten stitches in his forehead and five more in his face.

School Architect Discusses Addition

Dana Johannes of the Silver Spring architectural firm of Johannes and Murray has ended a two-day visit with Allegany County public school officials during which he checked over some of the detailed plans for the $900,000 addition to Allegany High School.

Tuesday, Mr. Johannes conferred with Frank E. Gamble, supervisor of music education, and Robert E. Pence, supervisor of physical education. Wednesday he consulted with Theodore P. Foote, supervisor of art education.

These three departments are chiefly interested in the new addition. Bids probably will be sought for the addition in several months, according to Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster.

Lions To Entertain District Governor

The Ridgeley Lions Club will entertain its new district governor, Willis Kiger, of Westover, W. Va., at a Ladies Night dinner Monday at 6:30 p.m. in Nave's Dining Room here.

Eston Turner, president of the Ridgeley Lions Club, will introduce Melvin W. Heiskell, who will act as toastmaster for the ladies-night event.

Rules On Sandwich Sales To Be Enforced

The State Health Department has asked health workers to enforce rules governing the preparation and distribution of prepackaged sandwiches.

C. S. Brinsfield, chief of the Division of Food control, said many organizations are manufacturing and distributing perishable sandwiches to service stations, drug stores and taverns.

He said some of the sandwiches are transported without refrigeration and held for sale without refrigeration.

The operation is clasified as a Type 1 Itinerant Restaurant, he said, since pre-packaged food is for sale, and new rules require that it comply with rules on refrigeration, wholesomeness of food, storage display handling and cleanliness and health of employes. Premises must also be clean and free of litter or rubbish.

5,000 Chickens Die In Romney Fire

ROMNEY, W. Va.—Some 5,000 chickens died Wednesday night in a fire which swept two chicken houses near here.

The blaze, which started at 8 p. m., destroyed two buildings on the farm of John Lowell, six miles northeast of Romney on State Route 28.

Henry Powell, chief of the Romney Volunteer Fire Department, said 5,000 chickens were "fried" in the blaze. Firemen were able to save 4,000 more chickens which were housed in a nearby building.

Chief Powell said the buildings were beginning to cave in when firemen arrived on the scene.

Mrs. John Lowell told firemen that her husband had left the house about 20 minutes before the blaze broke out. She said she glanced out the window and noticed the two buildings engulfed in flames.

Mrs. Lowell had to travel some distance before reaching a telephone to call firemen. The chickens had been housed in the building on Tuesday.

Chief Powell estimated damage at $3,000.

Dance Scheduled

MT. SAVAGE—Old Rail Post VFW will hold a dance in the post home on Main Street Saturday night. Music will be by the Orkettes from Greensburg. The public is invited.

Young Adult Rally Set In Charles Town

CHARLES TOWN—Dr. Massey Mott Heltzel, pastor of Ginter Park Church, Richmond, Va., will be the speaker for the Young Adult Rally of Winchester Presbytery in the Charles Town Presbyterian Church on Sunday, beginning at 2 p. m. He will speak on "The Nature and Mission of the Church."

Lewis Skidmore, president of the Young Adults of Winchester Presbytery, will preside and conduct the business meeting.

Discussion leaders for the afternoon are Rev. Robert C. Bradford Jr., pastor of the Opequon Group of Churches near Winchester, Va.; Rev. Carlyle A. McDonald, pastor of Charles Town Presbyterian Church; Rev. Reuben B. Sulo, pastor of Hancock Presbyterian Church and Rev. Thomas W. Jackson, pastor of Berkeley Springs Presbyterian Church.

A nursery will be provided for children so parents may attend. Those attending are requested to bring sandwiches. The host church will furnish the beverage, salad and dessert.

Present officers of the group are: President, Lewis Skidmore, Hancock; secretary, Ann Snyder o Martinsburg; treasurer, Robert Rice of Romney, and historian, Archie Conner of Berkeley Springs. James Kight and Fred Shockey are on the publicity committee.

A short rehearsal was held. Refreshments were prepared and served by the members.

Wires Catch Worker On Freight Car

MT. SAVAGE—An accident due to unauthorized wires being stretched across the Western Maryland Railway could have been extremely serious, railroad officials pointed out yesterday.

Joseph M. Miller, superintendent of the Western Division, said the near-mishap occurred in the heart of Mt. Savage on the old C&P line into that town.

Twin-wires had been strung from a building across the railroad right-of-way to the hill behind Railroad Street to connect a television set with the antenna.

During night-time switching operations there, a brakeman was on the top of a box car. As the train was moving toward the Cumberland end of town, he felt the wires hit him about the knees.

The wire caused him to be pushed along the car toward its end. He halted his forced progress when he literally "put the brakes on" his sliding feet.

The wire broke and he was spared a fall between the wheels and a serious or fatal injury.

The superintendent said the Interstate Commerce Commission has strict regulations about wires crossing railroad rights-of-way, whether above or below ground.

In addition to following these installation rules, the owner of the line must carry public liability insurance.

In the past, serious accidents have occurred because of the failure to follow these regulations, he added.

Social Is Postponed

WESTERNPORT — The annual Halloween parade social of Hammond Street School which was scheduled this afternoon has been cancelled because of the flu.

Annual Halloween Parade Will Be Held In Oakland

OAKLAND — Plans have been outlined for the annual Halloween celebration to be staged in Oakland Thursday, October 31, with a parade at 7 p.m.

This year the affair is being sponsored by the Oakland - Mt. Lake Park Lions Club, succeeding the Mt. City Band which had been in charge for a number of years. The band is traveling to Hagerstown on Wednesday, October 30, to participate in the annual mummers' parade there.

The parade here will form at the Center Street Elementary School and will move over the business section of Oakland before circling the block which includes Third, Green, Second and Alder Streets.

A large number of prizes will be awarded. Booths are to be set up on Second Street and other entertainment will be held at the Oakland Fire Department hall beginning at 8. There will be games and refreshments.

Jury Returns Five Felony Indictments

Indictments for felonies were returned against James Henry Heck Jr., Amos Edward Laing, Kenneth Mervin Davidson and Vernon Randolph Davidson, Martin Wayne Kline and Austin B. Copeland.

Indictments for misdemeanors were returned against Austin B. Copeland and Ragan Campbell.

Judge Harlan M. Calhoun granted a permit to Glen Avans to carry a pistol or revolver upon posting of $3,500 bond, purchasing a license for $20 and upon evidence that it was justified.

In recess of the County Court, applications to wed were issued to DeWitt Black Jr., Kessel, and Reda Jane Vance, Petersburg, and to Robert Edward Ralls, Takoma Park, Md. and Hattie Ann Mathias, Falls Church, Va.

WSCS Discusses Home Missions

KEYSER — "Our Home Mission" program was discussed by the Woman's Society of Christian Service of First Methodist Church a recent evening.

Revival Service Is Being Held In Frostburg

Rev. Lee Griggs Is Guest Preacher

FROSTBURG—Revival services are now in progress at the First English Baptist Church, East Main and Baptist Streets.

Services will continue Friday night of this week and Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights of next week at 7:30 p. m.

Special emphasis will be given on Sunday with two services in the morning and one in the evening. Sunday School will begin at a special evangelistic service at the usual hour, 9:30 a. m., with a special evangelistic service 10 a. m.

Regular morning worship will be at 10:45 a. m. Evening services will include Baptist Training Union at 6:30 p. m. and the regular evening service beginning at 7:30 p. m.

Rev. Lee Griggs, pastor of Philippi Baptist Church, Cleveland, Tenn., is the guest preacher for these services. Rev. E. Elwood Settle, pastor of the local church, extends a welcome to the public to attend these services.

Cub Pack Plans Induction Ceremony

FROSTBURG — Cub Pack 30, sponsored by State Teachers College Lab. PTA will hold its pack meeting today at 7:30 p. m. in Allegany Hall.

All cubs must be masked, according to Earl Richardson, cub master.

An induction ceremony for 11 new cubs will be held. Mothers of Den 3 will prepare and serve refreshments.

SAY AH! — Susan's just oozin' with curiosity at this preview of British-made Christmas toys in London. The friendly-looking donkey, one of about 2,000 toys on display, gets a thorough once over from three-year-old Susan Brown, whose mother might just as well add a $20 item to her Christmas shopping list — that's the donkey's price tag. Garrett Farm Bureau Will Meet Tonight

OAKLAND — Dr. Paul E. Nystrom, director of the extension service in Maryland, will be the principal speaker at the twentieth annual meeting of the Garrett County Farm Bureau today at 8 p.m. (DST) in Southern High School.

Dr. Nystrom has been employed by the University of Maryland since 1930, and has worked extensively in this county. He will be introduced by John H. Carter, county agricultural agent.

President Elra F. Garletts said approximately 600 persons including members, their wives and guests are expected.

Preceding the meeting a turkey dinner will be served in the school cafeteria at 6:30, continuing as persons arrive and accommodations permit until all persons have been served.

Entertainment will be provided by the Southern High School band for those who eat too early to go directly to the meeting in the gymnasium.

Other features of the evening's program include an election of officers; a discussion and voting on resolutions; special music by winners of the Talent Find contest, report of activities of the Associated Women by Mrs. Orval Glotfelty, president and greetings from the state office.

Group singing will be led by Mrs. Clark Schlossnagle with Miss June Leydig at the piano.

Third Polio Shots Are Scheduled

FROSTBURG — Mrs. Martha Flickinger, nurse at Frostburg State Teachers College, has announced that the third polio shot will be given October 31, between 2 and 5 p. m. in her office in Old Main.

Parents consent cards must be presented by all students that have not had the first shot. Students may obtain these cards from the nurse or from their resident hall supervisor. Arrangements are being made for their later shots.

Mrs. Flickinger said no Asian flu shots will be available for students.

Westernport Native Is Named Lecturer

WESTERNPORT — A former resident of here, Harold G. Michaels, has been named a lecturer in hospital administration at Emory University in Georgia.

Faculty changes at the university, including appointments and promotions, were announced by Dr. S. Walter Martin, president, following a recent meeting of the executive committee of the board of trustees.

Westernport Man Ends Perfect Railroad Service

WESTERNPORT — Nearly 52 and a half years of service as a brakeman and conductor, hazardous jobs that require working outdoors on railroad cars in all kinds of weather, have been completed by a Westernport man without a reportable injury.

A reportable injury is one that finds the employe off duty 72 hours during the ten days following an accident.

The holder of this record is Adam F. Zais, who retired Wednesday from the Western Maryland Railway.

According to W. E. Rayburn, trainmaster for the Western Division, Zais, in addition to his splendid safety record, had no suspensions from duty due to violation of railroad rules.

Zais began his work with the C&P Railroad on July 5, 1905. Prior to that time he had worked in the engineering department in maintenance of way work. He also had a year in the Keyser shops of the B&O Railroad.

All of his service on the C&P and its successor, the Western Maryland, has been on the Georges Creek Branch. He worked every turn possible on the two railroads.

He began as a brakeman and on October 1, 1909 was promoted to conductor.

Zais recalled in summing up his accidents, that a hopper ran over one of his fingers and he fell off a boxcar backwards, but luckily neither injury was serious.

He also had a close shave at the Mt. Savage station when he fell along side a moving train, but he managed to roll free of the wheels.

Zais was married to the former Miss Grace McFarland of Lonaconing 51 years ago in September. They have three children, Mrs. Virgil Springs, Westernport; Mrs. Lillian Knieriem, Grahamtown, and Marvin Zais, Westernport.

They also have seven grandsons, one granddaughter, and two great-grandsons.

FSTC Club Plans Hayride And Dance

FROSTBURG — The Do-Ci-Do Club of Frostburg State Teachers College will hold a hayride Saturday at 8 p. m.

Students going on the hayride will convene in Old Main Hall. A tractor will pull the hay to a round and square dance.

The hayride is stag or drag and will be free except for the fee to be paid upon entrance to the dance. This event is for all college students.

Majorie Lewis is chairman of publicity and will be assisted by Ruth Hockman, Jean Cummings, Mary Angle, Dorothy Downs and Helen Cummings, all freshmen and Barbara Bageant and Patricia Weicht, sophomores.

The group also plans a Halloween "Sadie Hawkins Style" dance for a later date.

Methodist Youth Will Boost UNICEF

GRANTSVILLE — Members of the Methodist Youth Fellowship of Grantsville Methodist Church will canvass the homes of this community Tuesday between 7 and 9 p. m. in the "Trick or Treat" campaign for UNICEF.

Residents are asked to have their contributions ready.

Meanwhile the Grantsville Elementary School has postponed its Halloween social, scheduled for today, because of flu-type illness in the school and community.

Liquor Store Workers Seek Higher Pay

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 24 (AP)—State Liquor Commissioner E. Gaujot Bias has requested $10 a month salary increases for employes in his department.

The increases represent the major part of an additional $292,020 Bias wants from the Board of Public Works when it considers his budget and those from other State departments in December.

"This agency cannot attract and retain personnel in its employ of the caliber and character needed under the current salary schedules," Bias said. He explained that 550 state liquor store workers make between $265 and $295 a month.

Salaries of similar employes in Virginia and Ohio are approximately $100 higher, Bias said.

Justifying the request for more pay to liquor commission workers, Bias indicated that workloads have increased. He said the average employe is handling 3,000 bottles a month compared with 2,300 in 1956.

The United States government began taxing cigarets in 1864.

Water Meter Ordinance Is Approved

WESTERNPORT—Mayor Okey E. Michael and Council have unanimously approved Ordinance 14 which authorizes the installation of town water meters and the fixing of rates for service.

The second and final reading of the ordinance was given by Commissioner Alvin Pence at the regular council session Wednesday.

Pence was given authority to employ a plumber to install a water meter in Bruce High School on Philos Avenue, the first for use inside the corporation. However, a meter has been installed for water being furnished the Horse Rock Hill development of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company outside the town limits.

Pence reported that work on repairing the town's reservoir, adjacent to the filtration plant, is progressing satisfactorily. The work is expected to be completed next week.

Mayor Michael reported the receipt of $1,889.43 from the State Roads Commission. Of this amount, $1,847.27 was the town's share from the state's gasoline tax and $42.16 from vehicle revenue.

W. M. Riley and Lorenzo Riggleman, officials of Christ Memorial Baptist Church, asked the town to give 45 feet of 15-inch sewer pipe for draining water from church property on Roosevelt Street.

The town will loan them the material with the provision that they sign an agreement should the water run on other person's property that the church would be responsible for any damages claimed. They agreed to do this.

An adjustment in the bill of Richard Grove, outside the corporation for putting in a water tap and pipe for $67.46, was reduced to $55.46. Mayor Michael recommended that a flag pole and flag be placed at the town's filtration plant.

Weekly receipts for the parking meters amounted to $75.70.

Garrett Jury Makes $18,500 Property Award

OAKLAND — A Circuit Court jury has awarded Mr. and Mrs. Hubert M. Weeks, Mt. Lake Park, $18,500 for their home and six acres or more of property.

The State Roads Commission had started proceedings to obtain the property for highway improvements to the Deer Park-Mt. Lake Park Road, and early in January placed $13,000 on deposit in the office of Richard L. Davis, clerk of Circiut Court. This was the amount the SRC appraisers had set as a value on the property.

Upon objections and an appeal by Mr. and Mrs. Weeks the settlement was placed in the hands of a Board of Property Review on July 24, and the three members of this board placed a value of $17,975 on the property to be taken. An appeal from this decision was entered by Mr. and Mrs. Weeks and the case was heard before a Garrett County jury.

Mr. and Mrs. Weeks, through their attorneys, Walter W. Dawson and W. Dwight Stover, sought $25,000 as damages.

Weeks, mayor of Mt. Lake Park, and a retired Baltimore and Ohio station agent, constructed his six-room bungalow and garage several years ago on a portion of his 42 acres of property across the highway from the Mt. Lake Park postoffice. The house was brick veneer. Weeks testified he planned to sell lots from the balance of his property until it became known that the State Roads Commission was planning to condemn it.

The Weeks case is one of several that will be heard by the juries within the next few months, all as the result of condemnation proceedings against property owners along the Deer Park-Mt. Lake Park highway. In each case when they fail to accept the amount the SRC has deposited with the clerk of Circuit Court as a fair amount for the properties, the case goes before a Board of Property Review. This consists of C. C. Nathan, Grantsville, an attorney; F. R. Corliss, surveying engineer, Deer Park and Grover C. Stemple, Oakland, a disinterested party, all appointed less than year ago by the court when a new procedure in condemnation cases was inaugurated.

W.Va. 4-H, FFA Baby Beef, Fat Lamb Show Set

Program Is Slated At Jackson's Mill

MORGANTOWN W. Va. — Plans have been completed for the 10th annual State 4-H and FFA Baby Beef and Fat Lamb Show and Sale at the State 4-H Camp, Jackson's Mill, October 29-31, according to Joe Emch, extension animal husbandman at West Virginia University.

The event is part of the 27th annual State 4-H and FFA Livestock Roundup. It is expected that 100 baby beeves and 65 fat lambs will be exhibited by 4-H and FFA members.

A beef cattle grooming and showing demonstration, a type demonstration, and a sheep showmanship demonstration will open the event on Tuesday evening, October 29, at 7:30.

The baby beef show will get under way promptly at 9:30 on Wednesday morning, October 30, and grand champion and reserve grand champion baby beef steers will be selected that afternoon. These events will be followed by the Fat Lamb Show at 3:30 p. m.

Baby beef and fat lamb showmanship contests will be held Thursday morning, October 31, beginning at 9:30. The baby beef and fat lamb sale will start promptly at 1 o'clock, Thursday afternoon.

The baby beeves will be judged by Roland Mullinix, Woodbine, Md., prominent cattle feeder. The fat lambs will be placed by Dr. James Welch of the animal husbandry department at W V U. Showmanship contest judges will include J. O. Knapp, director of the Agricultural Extension Service at WVU, and Mr. Mullinix. Auctioneer will be Col. Howard Dawkins, Winchester, Va.

The Monongahela Power Company will provide ribbons for the baby beef show, while ribbons for the fat lamb show will be presented by the West Virginia Purebred Sheep Breeders' Association. Premium money will be furnished by the State Department of Agriculture.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad will award prizes to the boy showmanship winners; Mrs. A. K. Dunlap, Lewisburg, will award medals to girl winners in the baby beef showmanship contest. The West Virginia Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' Association will award a $25 premium to the exhibtor of the champion Aberdeen-Angus steer, and the Kroger Company will award a trophy to the exhibitor of the grand champion steer of the show.

Spanish Shrimp Salad

Here's an old Andalusian recipe now served as a specialty in several southern restaurants as a cold plate, hors d'oeuvre or luncheon salad. In a deep pan or casserole place alternate layers of cooked, de-veined shrimp and thinly sliced onions. Pour over the shrimp a marinade made by adding to a cup of Spanish olive oil, a quarter-cup of wine vinegar, the juice of a lemon, a crushed garlic clove, a quarter-cup of capers with their juice, a teaspoon of sugar, another of Worcestershire, a dash of Tabasco, salt and pepper. Let stand, covered, in the refrigerator overnight, serve on lettuce, and garnish with cucumber slices, tomato wedges and watercress.

New and colorful combed cotton place mats have a smooth, surface covering of vinyl sheet for easy cleaning, and a non-slip backing to prevent damage to table-tops.

Frankfurters, served hot or cold, will be received with gusto by all the "witches and ghosts" gathered for a Halloween party. With the franks, serve a selection of sauces, some crisp relishes, crunchy doughnuts and fruit punch from a grinning jack-o-lantern serving bowl.

Halloween Party Fare

Why not celebrate Halloween by serving "weenies?" Simmered in water, broiled, or roasted on the end of stick, frankfurters are sure to please all the "witches" and "goblins" gathered for a party.

Buy enough franks and buns so that each guest has two, and with the meat serve a selection of nippy sauces. The franks can be served without cooking, if you like, for they're ready to eat when purchased.

Decorate the table with a grinning jack-o-lantern punch bowl. Make the punch bowl by carving a toothy grin in a nice fat pumpkin, hollowed to hold a serving bowl.

Add some crunchy relishes to accompany the franks and buns. For dessert, serve doughnuts—of your own making or the best from your favorite bakery.

Here's a menu to emphasize the eerie atmosphere of the "black cats, ghosts, and skeletons" that might have collected for a celebration on "All hallows Eve!"

Halloweenies on Buns
Witches' Hot Sauces
Cat's Meow Relishes
Crunchy Doughnuts
Jack-o-Lantern Brew

HALLOWEENIES ON BUNS: Plan on at least two franks in buns for each guest. Cook the franks by simmering, grilling, or broiling.

To simmer franks, place in boiling water to cover. Cover pan and remove from heat. Let stand 7 to 8 minutes. When cooking more than a pound of franks at one time, heat them in water in a covered pan over low heat; do not allow to boil.

To grill franks, melt a little fat on a skillet, then place franks in fat and heat and turn franks to brown slowly. Use tongs to avoid piercing meat.

To broil franks, rub with butter or margarine and place on broiler rack. Broil 3 inches from heat source, turning to brown evenly.

To roast franks, arrange on sharpened sticks or frankfurter forks and hold six to eight inches from flame, turning to heat evenly. Be careful not to let skins burst and juices escape during cooking.

WITCHES' HOT SAUCES: Spice dairy sour cream with prepared horseradish to taste; stir in chopped chives or minced onion for one. Blend chili sauce and piccalilli for another. And for the third sauce, spoon hot mustard into serving dish. Use miniature witches' brooms (pastry brushes) for swabbing sauces on franks.

CAT'S MEOW RELISHES: Thread thin carrot sticks through pited black ripe olives.

JACK O' LANTERN BREW: Serve chilled spiced apple cider or fruit punch from punch bowl.

CRUNCHY DOUGHNUTS: Prepare doughnuts according to standard recipe; fry in hot, deep lard. Drain on unglazed paper. Roll in chopped nuts.

TURKEY-RICE RING

Combine ½ cup milk with 1 can cream of chicken soup. Heat. Stir in ½ cup sliced cooked mushrooms, 2 cups diced cooked turkey, ¾ tsp. Sterling Salt, ¼ cup diced pimento. Keep hot . . . To serve, arrange freshly cooked rice in a ring (use a colorful casserole) and fill with the creamed turkey.

Any dish has extra zest, extra flavor richness when cooked and seasoned with Sterling Salt!

Sherried Lobster Salad

The vineyards of Jerez, where all true sherry comes from, are near the Andalusian coast, and the people love to combine their wines with the fruits of the sea. A magnificent salad from Jerez is made by soaking cooked lobster meat in a dry sherry, either a fino type or nutty amontillado, for half an hour, then serving this on a bed of shredded lettuce with mayonnaise. They often combine several different cooked sea foods before adding a cup of the sherry. Over here, you might use crab meat, shrimp, South African lobster tails, and even scallops or tuna. For variety, try using a sweet sherry, one of the olorosos, for your marinade, and with the salad serve glasses of chilled fino or amontillado.

The term corn as used in the United States refers to wheat in England and oats in Scotland.

A Salad The Spanish Way

An old Andalusian saying describes the kind of people needed to make a salad dressing: "a spendthrift for the oil, a miser for the vinegar, a counselor for the salt and a madman to stir them up." Plenty of Spanish olive oil is the secret of all good dressings, four parts of oil to one of vinegar or lemon juice, salt, pepper and mustard to taste, and a few grains of sugar to help bring out flavors. This is a good basic dressing for greens, and for vegetables you want to serve cold, such as green beans, beets, onions, cucumbers or tomatoes.

The three balls over a pawnbroker's shop can be traced back to the coat of arms of the Medici family of Florence, Italy. The Medici were a great banking and money lending family of the Fifteenth century.

Chinese egg rolls with a savory filling of seafood and crisp vegetables are a highlight of Oriental menus. These deep-fried golden brown appetizers made with golden shortening, are easily duplicated in home kitchens.

Easy-To-Make Recipe For Chinese Egg Rolls

One of the pleasures to look forward to in a visit to San Francisco or New York is a leisurely meal in a Chinatown restaurant. The hushed clicking of chopsticks and the wonderful aroma arising from steaming pots of tea offer the promise of an exotic and interesting cuisine. The menus fulfill this promise with a stunning variety of Oriental fare, ranging from won ton soup and lotus leaf rice to lobster Cantonese, Peking duck, snow peas and fortune cookies.

One of the most popular and delicious dishes to be found in Chinese restaurants is easily duplicated in home kitchens. These are Chinese egg rolls, a delicately flavored, deep-fried specialty with a savory filling of seafood and crisp vegetables. Here is an excellent, easy-to-make recipe for this dish. The rolls are fried to perfection in golden shortening which gives them their special golden crispness. These rolls should be served piping hot and accompanied by a hot mustard sauce and a steaming bowl of rice.

Egg Roll Pancakes

1 egg, beaten
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup sifted enriched flour
½ cup water

In a small bowl combine egg, salt and flour. Stir in water to make a thin batter. You may want to strain the batter into a measuring cup to remove any lumps which may remain. Heat a small frying pan (about 6 inches in diameter) and brush it lightly with Fluffo (golden shortening). Pour about 2 tablespoons of batter into the pan, swirl the pan to coat it evenly with batter and pour any surplus batter back into the measuring cup. Hold pan over heat for about 30 seconds, or until the pancake is set, but not browned. Cook on one side only and turn the pancake out onto a damp towel. Repeat, first heating the pan, as it is the heat of the pan that almost cooks the pancakes. When all the batter is used, the pancakes may be rolled in a damp towel and stored in the refrigerator or they may be filled immediately. Makes 12 pancakes.

Egg Rolls Filling

1 can crab meat, flaked
½ cup minced celery
¼ cup chopped green onions
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 tablespoons soya sauce
Salt and pepper to taste
12 egg roll pancakes
1 egg, lightly beaten
Fluffo (golden shortening) for deep frying

Combine crab meat, celery, onions, parsley, soya sauce and salt and pepper to taste. Place a spoonful of the mixture in the center of each pancake (it doesn't matter which side is up). Fold three sides of the pancake over the filling, then roll the pancake, completely enclosing the filling. Seal the open edge of the pancake and chill until ready to fry. When ready to serve, fry the rolls in hot deep Fluffo (golden shortening) heated to 365°F. for about 4 minutes, or until they are golden and crisp. Drain on absorbent paper.

Burgers With Rokatopping

1¼ pounds ground lean beef
Salt and pepper, to taste
1 tablespoon fat
1 cup sliced mushrooms
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 ounces Blue cheese
1 cup light cream
½ cup milk
Pepper, to taste
2 tablespoons sherry (optional)
3 Hamburger buns
Butter, as needed

Shake salt and pepper over meat; mix lightly but thoroughly. Shape meat into 6 patties the diameter of the hamburger buns. Heat fat in heavy skillet; saute hamburgers to desired stage of doneness turning once to brown evenly. Remove from skillet.

Saute mushrooms and onion lightly in hamburger drippings. Add blue cheese; stir until softened. Stir in cream and milk. Add pepper. Bring to boil; reduce heat; simmer for 2 to 3 minutes. Stir in sherry if used.

Cut hamburger buns in halves; spread cut sides with butter (rub with garlic if desired); toast under boiler. Put a toasted half bun on each plate. Place a hamburger on top of each; top with sauce. Garnish with a sliced mushroom or sprig of parsley. Makes 6 servings.

A sandwich is just a sandwich or it can be something to behold and fabulously good, like this.

The only two states in the United States which are bounded each by four straight lines are Colorado and Wyoming.

Seven Seas Stew

1½ quarts boiling water
8 small potatoes, peeled
8 small onions, peeled
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon celery salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon bottled brown bouquet sauce
¾ cup (one envelope) instant Starlac nonfat dry milk powder
¾ cup flour
2 (12-oz.) cans corned beef
2 (No. 303) cans sweet peas, drained

Combine boiling water, potatoes and onions in saucepan. Stir in seasonings and bottled brown bouquet sauce. Cook until potatoes and onions are tender. Remove from heat. Remove potatoes and onions from saucepan. Milk powder and flour over vegetable liquid; beat with rotary beater until smooth. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened, about 6 minutes. Blend in corned beef. Add vegetables. Cook over low heat until thoroughly heated.

Have No Money? You're Part Owner Of Big Collection At The Smithsonian

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Taxpayers who fret about money got a tremendous boost in morale today. The Smithsonian Institution counted its coins and reported our mutually owned collection now has reached a tidy 65,000 specimens.

While it's true the Smithsonian has no checkout service for needy shareholders, it's nice to drop by and look at the money. Two million persons do that each year.

The collection began in 1793, when the chief coiner of the U.S. Mint began to save samples. Paper currency has been added, and, through gifts and purchases, coins from other lands and times have joined the collection.

The first money ever made is here. It's a coin called the stater, made of a natural alloy of 75 per cent gold and 25 per cent silver. The Lydians of Asia Minor, a people who went in for commerce and industry, invented money somewhere about 700 B. C.

Clever fellows, those Lydians. They were the first to have inns, and they also invented the game of dice. Whether they invented the stater so they could have stakes when they shot craps is no longer clear.

Four hundred years later Ptolemy I of Egypt, apparently a vain man, took a step that was to have important monetary consequences. He put his own portrait on a coin, and great men's faces have been following Ptolemy's ever since.

Which is a good thing, as far as historians are concerned. The Romans, for example, excelled in portraits, and one of the best ways to see what their rulers looked like is to study their coins.

So far as this country is concerned, most visitors like the coins that never caught on, the half-, the two-, the three- and the 0-cent pieces. The Smithsonian also has the experimental pieces that were run off but never put into circulation.

But now for the big question that is asked almost invariably: How much is all this worth?

And the answer from the coin curator, Vladimir Clain-Stefanelli: Nobody knows, and since it definitely is not for sale, who cares?

Well, are there bigger collections elsewhere?

"I hate to say it—yes," Dr. Clain-Stefanelli said. "In Vienna there is a large collection, and in Barcelona and I think in Sweden, but I would have to check that."

At any rate, it's a huge collection, and in the opinion of Dr. C.-S., it offers a splendid way to study history. His interest began when, as a boy in Austria, he was given a collection that included some Roman coins. He has been studying money, and how it was spent, ever since.

"To be a curator of coins," he said, "you first must be a historian."

A final note: No one can say today how wives or loaves of bread those first coins would buy.

About all that can be said is that, in any age, money is one thing few people ever think they have enough of.

Soviets Maneuver On Approaches To Turkey

By ROY ESSOYAN

MOSCOW, Oct. 24 (AP)—Soviet army and navy units were reported maneuvering today on the approaches to Turkey. One report said ground forces are training in the use of atomic weapons.

The army newspaper Red Star said maneuvers were conducted successfully in the Trans-Caucasus area where Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky has been placed in command.

The newspaper Dawn of the East, published in the Georgian capital of Tiflis, said the border troops are "studying the arts of combat under difficult conditions, taking into account the use of atomic weapons and other means of modern warfare."

Soviet Fleet reported successful Russian warship maneuvers in the Black Sea. Similar reports of maneuvers usually are published without details as to time and place. The current reports gained added significance in view of repeated Soviet assertions that Russian armed forces stand ready to intervene in any aggression against Syria.

Soviet Fleet said the Black Sea maneuvers involve fighter planes. Red Star said army exercises were carried out in the mountains under conditions of simulated radioactivity.

The Tiflis radio announced last night the appointment of Rokossovsky to the Trans - Caucasus command. The marshal's appointment still has not been generally announced in the Soviet Union. The fact the appointment was beamed abroad led some Western sources to believe it was part of a Soviet propaganda campaign.

Sylvania Sales Up, But Profits Down

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP)—Sylvania Electric Products Inc. today reported record sales but lower profits for the nine months as compared with 1956.

Net income for nine months ended Sept. 30 declined to $8,642,240 equal to $2.37 a share from $11,544,570 or $3.20 a share in the same period a year ago. Sales rose to $251,883,741 compared with $246,153,243 a year ago, adjusted to reflect acquisition of Argus Cameras with Sylvania.

Nehru Deplores Caste Rioting

NEW DELHI, Oct. 24 (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru said today caste riots are damaging India's reputation abroad.

Nehru declared at a large outdoor U.N. Day gathering that India talks big at the United Nations but is told it cannot solve the problem of its caste-ridden society at home.

He referred to riots last month between untouchables and caste Hindus in the Ramnad area of southern India, where 14 persons were killed.

Program At VA Center Cancelled

A program of entertainment by students of a local dance studio who were scheduled to go to Newton D. Baker VA Center, Martinsburg, W. Va., Sunday, has been cancelled due to the flu-type illness among the children.

Sponsors of the program are Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, and Henry Hart Post 1411, VFW.

Fiber flax is processed in the United States only in the Williamette valley of Oregon.

The artichoke belongs to the same family as thistles, sunflowers, lettuce, salsify and chrysanthemums. The artichoke's forerunner, cardoon, a giant thistle, was cultivated for its leaf shoots before the Christian era.

Five Communities Elect ASC Committees For Year

Some 190 Allegany County farmers submitted ballots in the annual election for five community Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committees.

Ballots were submitted by 22.3 per cent of the farmers who received them but 18 of the ballots were rejected because the voter failed to sign his name on the outside envelope.

In each case the farmer with the highest number of votes is chairman, second highest vice chairman, third highest regular member, fourth highest first alternate and fifth highest second alternate.

Community 1, Little Orleans — Delmer L. Yonker, chairman; George H. Hartley, vice chairman; Marshall T. Mann Sr., regular member; Marvin L. Golden, first alternate; Olney Whitfield, second alternate.

Community 2, Oldtown, North Branch — Floyd Buser, chairman; Edgar M. Matthews, vice chairman; Jonah Hose, regular member; Theodore Stegmaier, first alternate; William C. Crabtree, second alternate.

Community 3, Flintstone—Earl F. Stonestreet, chairman; Justin Heavner, vice chairman; Paul H. Browning, regular member; Gene L. Teter, first alternate; Lester Rader, second alternate.

Community 4, Union Grove, Baltimore Pike, Williams Road, Mt. Savage — Leslie E. Hinkle, chairman; Henry W. Ford, vice chairman; Harry H. Delbrook, regular member; J. A. Miltenberger, first alternate; C. J. Helmstetter, second alternate.

Community 5, Potomac Valley, George's Creek, Frostburg—Willianm E. Shumaker, chairman; Ivan Wilson, vice chairman; Thomas G. Barton, regular member; Edward J. Rephann, first alternate; Nat E. Workman, second alternate.

The five community committee chairmen are scheduled to meet in convention at the County ASC office at 37 Washington Street at 10:30 a. m. today to elect the County ASC Committee. Present members are James H. Weimer, Mt. Savage, chairman; Joseph W. Silber, Oldtown, vice chairman; Bradye Dolly, Flintstone, regular member; Charles S. Harvey, Shaft, first alternate, and Harry H. Delbrook, Mt. Savage, second alternate.

You can substitute evaporated milk for cream in many candy recipes if along with every cup of the milk you add a tablespoon or two of butter or margarine.

Girl Scouts To Mark Founding

Mrs. H. W. Eliason, chairman of the international committee of the Cumberland Council Girl Scouts, will meet with the Juliette Low representatives from all Girl Scout troops on Saturday at 10:30 a. m. at the Girl Scout House.

In preparation for the celebration of Founder's Day in Girl Scouting, this meeting will be highlighted with a program about the life of the founder, Mrs. Juliette Low.

Mrs. James A. Avirett, who visited the Juliette Low birthplace in Savanah, Ga., will tell about the building and its restoration and will show pictures of the buildings and surrounding area.

This will be an organizational meeting and all troops are urged to have two representatives present since the group will not meet again until January.

Cinder Barrels To Go Out Soon

Cinder barrels will go out soon.

Street Commissioner William P. Buchholtz said crews were beginning to paint the barrels yesterday.

They will be filled with a mixture of cinders and salt and spotted on steep streets for the convenience of drivers who get into difficulties on slippery streets this winter.

Market Irregularly Higher After Another Hectic Day

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP)—A tug-o'-war between bulls and bears after yesterday's historic rally left the stock market irregularly higher at the close today.

Key stocks showed a spotty pattern of gains and losses running generally from fractions to a point or so with an occasional steeper loss. Overall market statistics and the average put the list moderately on the upside.

It was a turbulent day with turnover of 4,030,000 shares compared to 4,600,000 yesterday when the market staged its greatest one-day recovery in 28 years.

Background sentiment to the performance was greatly improved. Wall Street was still riding on President Eisenhower's plans for a series of talks reaffirming faith in the economy and other facets of America's strength. Additionally, there was a flood of encouraging news of progress in missiles and a published report that the Federal Reserve Board intended to ease on its hard money policy. This was buttressed by some spot reports of a more relaxed situation in the money market.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 50 cents to $157.20 with the industrials up 70 cents, down 20 cents and the utilities up 60 cents. The weakening in rail shares was pushed to some extent by a report that carloadings were at a three-year low.

There was almost an even split between gainers and losers on the list of most active stocks. Eight fell and 7 rose.

North American Aviation topped the list, losing 2⅞ at 22⅞ on 74,300 shares. Second was Lukens Steel, off 1⅜ at 65⅜ on 72,200 shares. Third was Bethlehem Steel, up ¼ at 40¾ on 70,900 shares.

LaSalle And Allegany Meet Tonight In 29th Grid Game

Owls To Host Sentinels In CVAL Contest

Battle For First Place; Ridgeley Plays W.Va. Deaf

The second game of the city series featuring LaSalle's Explorers and Allegany's Campers and the battle for first place in the Cumberland Valley Athletic League between Fort Hill and Westminster at the latter place are the highlights of today's scholastic football program in the tri-state area.

LaSalle and Allegany will come to grips in the twenty-ninth game of the series which now stands 18-8 in the Campers' favor with two games ending in ties.

In the first game of the city triangular series Fort Hill defeated LaSalle by the score of 13-6 and that's the closest shave the Sentinels have had this season. Fort Hill has beaten its four other opponents by three or more touchdowns and has shut out three of them.

Coach Chet Payne's Campers, who were spilled last year by LaSalle, 21-0, are playing just above the .500 mark at the present time with a 3-2 record while LaSalle has dropped two in a row for 1-4 season record. The Explorers' lone win is over Berlin, Pa.

Officials from the Johnstown, Pa., area will handle the game at the stadium scheduled to get under way at 8 o'clock.

Unbeaten Teams Meet

Two undefeated teams will be meeting in Westminster tonight at 8:30 when Herb Ruby's Owls test Fort Hill's Sentinels in a game that will give the winning team undisputed possession of the lead in the eight-school CVAL. Both teams own overall 5-0 records and in the conference they're knotted at 3-0.

Westminster never has beaten Fort Hill on the gridiron. The schools have met six times since 1951 and the Hahnmen have made a clean sweep. In fact, the Carroll Countians never have scored more than one touchdown a game against the Sentinels.

A large delegation of Fort Hill followers will make the trip to Westminster tonight to root for the Hilltoppers to make it six in a row this year and extend their two-year string to seven games. Fort Hill's last defeat came at the hands of Front Royal (20-14) prior to the Turkey Day game with Allegany in 1956. Westminster closed out the last campaign with a 14-6 win over Allegany after going down before Fort Hill, 19-0.

In the third CVAL game on tap for tonight, Frederick (1-2) will play the Rebels at South Hagerstown (1-1-1). In a Saturday night game, Handley's Judges of Winchester play Mel Henry's North Hagerstown eleven in the Hub City.

With the Moorefield at Berkeley Springs game and the Southern at Keyser game postponed on account of the flu epidemic, the number of Potomac Valley Conference tilts will be reduced from five to three.

Lions At Ridgeley

Ridgeley's High School Blackhawks, loser to Romney on Monday, will play host to Coach Donald Bullock's West Virginia School for the Deaf eleven at Ridgeley while Claude Flagg's Romney High Pioneers will entertain Coach William "Honey" Crites' Petersburg High Vikings at Romney and Franklin High's Panthers from Pendleton county will engage Guy Propst's Indians at Circleville.

Petersburg has the best P.V.C. record of the six teams involved, winning five and losing one. Romney is 2-1, West Virginia Deaf School 2-2, Ridgeley 0-6, Circleville 2-2 and Franklin 0-4. Franklin has scored only 18 points and Ridgeley 13. The Hawks have yielded 215 talies and Franklin 147.

The Southern at Keyser game is reset for Monday while Moorefield will play at Berkeley, November 8.

Other area games on tap for today include the Northern Huskies of Garrett county (5-1) at Berlin-Brothersvalley, Pa., Charles Town at Martinsburg and the Bedford Bisons at Richland Township.

ITS THE RULE

By Central Press Association

The football rule book is quite concise and clear when it comes to personal fouls on the gridiron.

The teams of all offenders are punished with 15-yard penalties and if, in the judgement of the

Terry Brennan Says Irish Have Long Way To Go

Seven Tough Foes Start With Pitt

By JERRY LISKA

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 24 (AP)—Neither a high national ranking nor Pittsburgh's Panthers will catch undefeated Notre Dame savoring too complacently at least a partial return of former Irish football glory.

Notre Dame, ranked No. 7 in the current AP poll, Saturday seeks its fourth consecutive victory, facing Pitt's tough Panthers in a contest which has been a Notre Dame Stadium sellout (57,000) for many weeks.

After whipping Purdue, Indiana and Army, the Irish season already has improved upon last year's record, 2-8, the worst in Notre Dame history. After Pitt, the Irish face Navy, Michigan State, Oklahoma, Iowa, Southern California and Southern Methodist.

That's a formidable array, especially Michigan State, Oklahoma and Iowa on successive Saturdays. Brennan's lads, are only two victories away from an even break in their 10-game schedule. After last season, that would be splendid improvement.

"We are thankful we have developed as well as we have," said Brennan, who got just a one-year renewal of his contract after the 1956 Irish crash.

"We have seven tough opponents coming up and obviously our improvement will have to continue the rest of the season."

Pitt still is nursing wounds from last week's 29-13 loss to Army, but may come up against the Irish stronger than it has been in recent weeks. Guard Dick Carr, who missed the Army game because of flu, and star halfback Jim Theodore, injured since Pitt's 6-3 conquest of Oregon Sept. 28, may join the fray.

Pari-Mutuel Strike Costly To California

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Oct. 24 (AP)—Assemblyman H. W. (Pat) Kelly said today the 26-day strike of race track pari-mutuel workers cost the state about 1½ million dollars in revenues.

The state's 74 county and district fairs and the University of California and California Polytechnic College receive horse racing funds.

Johnny Mize Weds

DELAND, Fla., Oct. 24 (AP)—Johnny Mize, former big league baseball slugger, was married last night to Mrs. Marjorie Pope at the home of her parents.

Mize's first wife died of burns when their home caught fire here in August. He runs a liquor store here, and his bride is woman's editor of radio Station WOOO.

SPORTS GRILL

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (INS)—Turf lore is replete with sad misjudgments by men who thought they knew horse flesh and were willing to back their judgment with their bankrolls.

Most racing buffs know about the $75,000 paid for New Broom and the $66,000 paid for Pericles, two yearlings who never won enough to pay one month's feed bill.

There have been scores and scores of other yearlings who brought from $20,000 up and were worthless as racers.

On the other hand, Alsab brought only $700 as a yearling and won a little over $350,000. Not a bad buy. There have been hundreds of other great bargains. Three years ago, Mrs. A. A. Bigelow paid $20,000 for a yearling she named Nail, and the colt won about $240,000 as a two-year-old.

That was quite a contrast to the $50,000 W. A. Hanger paid for Jutland the same year. Jutland won $400 as a two-year-old.

But this same Hooper paid $46,000 for a Count Fleet yearling he called Rapid Count, which won a snappy $275 and so far as we know hasn't won anything since.

Sometimes we wonder how much luck, knowledge or judgment is involved in the purchase of a yearling. A colt may seem to have everything—great conformation and fine blood lines—but may turn out a flop.

Mrs. Elizabeth Arden Graham owns Jewel's Reward, favorite for the world's highest race, the Garden State Stakes at Camden Saturday.

But she would not have owned the colt if anybody had made what she considered a good bid for him at the yearling sales last year. Nobody did, so she bid back the colt and now may have the two-year-old champion running in her colors.

Douglas Prewitt Jr., thinks so much of his colt Terra Firma that he put up a supplementary $10,000 to get him in the same race. This is one of four colts he offered for sale last year. Three were bought but nobody wanted to pay the $10,000 he asked for Terra Firma.

Clemson Spills South Carolina Before 44,500

White's Passing Sparks 13-0 Win

COLUMBIA, S.C., Oct. 24 (AP)—Clemson's sophomore-studded second unit, led by quarterback Harvey White, blasted South Carolina for two touchdowns and an upset 13-0 win here today.

The unexpected Atlantic Coast Conference victory before a record "Big Thursday" crowd of 44,500 in the teams' 55th State Fair meeting also featured top defensive work by Clemson's first string unit, headed by end Ray Masneri.

White ran for 21, passed to halfback Bill Mathis for 28 and caught halfback Sonny Quesenberry with a 15-yard touchdown throw in an 86-yard march just before the half ended.

White & Co., on the move again at the end of the third period, rolled 71 yards to score in four plays. The big play was White's 60-yard pass to end Whitey Jordan. Jordan caught the ball on the 15 but dropped it at the 1 as he and the ball went out of bounds.

Macias And Halimi Sign For Title Go

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24 (INS)—Mexico's Raul (Raton) Macias and France's Alphonse Halimi went through the ceremonial signing of contracts today for their 15-round bout Nov. 6 for the "undisputed" world's bantamweight title.

Both tiny battlers stood up well under a barrage of news photographers' flash bulbs as they signed the documents at Rodger Young Auditorium for their outdoor fight at Wrigley Field.

Halimi, recognized as bantamweight champion by the European Boxing Union, has a $50,000 guarantee for risking that title. Halimi is guaranteed a rematch if he loses but Macias is not.

DU PONT ZEREX® ANTI-FREEZE

PERMANENT TYPE

WITH MR-8 KEEPS YOU GUARANTEED* SAFE

AGAINST FREEZE-UPS, RUST-UPS ...AND IT WON'T ROT HOSE

HOW MR-8 PROTECTS YOUR CAR

Here's the complete all-around cooling system protection you get with "Zerex," the only permanent type anti-freeze containing MR-8, Du Pont's special chemical rust inhibitor.

1. Works in all waters
Du Pont "Zerex" anti-freeze with MR-8 is compatible with all types of water. Even in hard water the inhibitor stays in perfect solution. Hard water makes the inhibitors used in many anti-freezes precipitate out, materially reducing their protective qualities.

2. Will not rot rubber hose
"Zerex" with MR-8 will not rot or soften rubber hose because it contains no oil. Oil is extremely harmful to some radiator hose, softening or rotting it sometimes in one season. Then the hose may collapse or burst, causing overheating and engine damage.

3. Neutralizes all acids
The seven different metals used in modern cooling systems can become corroded when a permanent anti-freeze solution turns acid. However, "Zerex" with MR-8 has extra "reserve alkalinity" that gives winter-long protection from the corrosive action of cooling system acids.

4. Keeps rust in suspension
"Zerex" with MR-8 keeps the cooling systems of today's complex engines clean and free-flowing. Because "Zerex" contains no oil, it does not cause rust to stick to cooling system surfaces and clog radiator passages, which can cause overheating and engine damage.

So don't take chances this winter. See your dealer now and get the complete winter-long protection only "Zerex" with MR-8 gives. It's the premium, permanent type anti-freeze made and guaranteed by Du Pont . . . your best assurance of quality and satisfaction.

DU PONT GUARANTEE

"Zerex"® anti-freeze will protect the cooling system of your car from freezing, rust or corrosion for one full winter—and will not leak out—if used in a properly operating, watertight cooling system and if used according to Du Pont directions printed on the "Zerex" container.

Du Pont guarantees too, that "Zerex" will not boil away and can be used with either high- or low-opening thermostats, at high or low altitudes in extreme driving or weather conditions. "Zerex" will not harm rubber hoses, gaskets, pump packing, metal parts of the cooling system or car finish. "Zerex" mixes perfectly with water, flows freely and transfers heat efficiently.

Cage Pioneer Dies — LaSalle 30th Year

300th For Campers — Elbin Renominated

By C. V. BURNS

"RED" VAN SANT is dead. ... This news will come as a shock to those who saw the "Old Redhead" on the street the past several days.

L. E. Van Sant (As Cage Star)

Lorenzo E. Van Sant, 77 was a basketball pioneer in this area and was better known as "Mr. Tennis" as he was the promoter of city and county tennis tournaments since 1928 and was founder of The Dingle courts.

Mr. Van Sant's basketball career was launched back in the early 1900s when the sport was just beginning to take hold here. In 1906, nine years after James A. Naismith invented the court game at the Springfield, Mass., YMCA, "Red" was physical director and cage star at the local "Y," then located on Baltimore street where the Peskin building now stands.

Before Van Sant started playing peach baskets were used as hoops and the original ball was a soccer ball. At first there were seven players on a side, then nine and eight but the number was reduced to five as of today and the value of a field goal was three points when "Red" was breaking in. Up to 1924 each team had its own foul shooting specialist. Today the player fouled shoots his own free throws.

Princeton and the New York Athletic Club were among the teams met by the local "Y" quint in the days when the Buffalo Germans were the toast of the basketball world.

Mr. Van Sant played football at the old Allegany County Academy on Washington street.

At one time during his career Mr. Van Sant and William L. Radcliffe, secretary of the local YMCA, were in the entertainment field and with the financial backing of one of the Hershey Brothers of the Hershey Chocolate Company, "Red" managed Creatore's Band for three years with headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Mr. Van Sant spent many years in the advertising business here, being employed by Rosenbaum Brothers and many other local firms.

The "Old Redhead" often remarked that he didn't start to play tennis until he was 40 and he was still active on the courts up to the time of his death.

Mr. Van Sant also was instrumental in promoting badminton matches at Fort Hill High School during the winter months in recent years.

We know that all those who had contact with "Red" over the years are going to miss him.

ALLEGANY HIGH School will be engaging in its 300th football game tonight when the 32nd edition of Campobello teams faces the LaSalle Explorers.

Walter L. Bowers was head coach when Allegany High was opened in 1926. Several of the games were played at the Cumberland Fair Grounds that season, including a scoreless tie with Hagerstown. The shift was necessitated when Mid-City Park, Wineow Street was occupied by a carnival.

Prof. Bowers was the first of six coaches who have held the grid reins at the Sedgwick street school in 32 years. He coached eleven teams, Herman Ball, seven, Bob Pence six, Roy Lester four, Bert Harbert two and Chester Payne is in his second year as grid mentor.

The Campers have played 299 games. They have won 188, lost 90 and figured in 21 tie contests for an average of .676.

LaSALLE broke into the football picture in 1928 with Arthur Slocum of Keyser at the helm and is engaging in the fall sport for the 30th consecutive year. Norman Geatz, Jr., is the Explorers' 15th coach.

Others in addition to Slocum and the number of years they served were John J. Long (4), George Shay (1), Pat Conway (7), John Blough (2), Blough and "Peck" O'Neill (1), Harold Langton (1), Jack Plum (1), Phil Carolan (3½), Carolan and Jim Gaffney (1), Ronald Palmer and Phil Minke (1) and Geatz (6½).

The Explorers will be playing their 268th game tonight. They have chaled up 117 wins while losing 129 and played 21 ties for an average of .476.

MAX ELBIN, the one-time Cumberland Country Club caddie, who "growed up" and became the pro at the swank Burning Tree Golf Club near Washington, D.C., has been renominated for the presidency of the Middle Atlantic Professional Golf Association. The election is set for Monday at Hot Springs, Va.

COACH Eddie Erdelatz was straining to appear philosophical about his Navy football team's upset defeat at the hands of Jim Tatum's North Carolina Tar Heels.

"You know," he mused, "there are millions of Chinese who don't know we lost. In fact, they didn't even know we were playing."

WE LIKE the item about the proposal of John Krider, president of the Florida State League, to allow a batter only two strikes to strike out and three balls for a walk to speed up the game and the snappy reply from George M. Trautman, minor league president who said:

Sam Snead's Ten Rates A Plaque

DETROIT (AP)—Remember the 10 strokes Sammy Snead had on one hole last summer? Well, members of the Plum Hollow Golf Club apparently will never let Snead forget them.

"DUFFERS TAKE HEART—On this, the fourth hole at Plum Hollow, on June 27, 1957, in the Western Open, Sam Snead took ten strokes. In spite of this disaster, he finished with 280, one stroke behind Doug Ford, the winner at 279. Presented by Dawson Taylor."

The 10 on the 459-yard straight par 4 hole was accomplished after Snead hit his first two tee shots out of bounds. His sixth shot went into a trap near the green. He buried his seventh shot and his eighth made the green, 15-feet past the pin. His first putt rimmed the cup and then he put the ball into the hole for a 10.

Cop Three By Point

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Yale has lost only three football games by one point in Yale Bowl since the big concrete saucer was opened back in 1914. Oddly enough, the winner of all three has been Brown University.

Brown's latest one-point victory over Yale, by 21-20, occurred Oct. 5, 1957. The Bears' other one-point wins were in 1943 (21-20) and 1951 (14-13).

Snead, Demaret Play In Japan Before 10,000

Americans Lead In Canada Test

By WILL GRIMSLEY

TOKYO, Friday, Oct. 25 (AP)—Golf interest, already at a feverish pitch, reached a new high today as the leading team of Sammy Snead and Jimmy Demaret teed off with the surprisingly strong Japanese runners-up in the second round of the International Canada Cup competition.

The luck of the draw paired the long driving United States favorites and the Japanese combination of Torakichi Nakamura and Koichi Ono in this second round "natural" before a gallery expected to reach more than 10,000.

Snead, the hero of the Japanese fans because of his tremendous drives, fired a competitive course-record breaking 34-33—67 and Demaret equalled the mark with a 36-33—69 for a combined score of 136 in the opening round Thursday. This was five strokes better than the fine 141 total racked up by the home duo.

Thus the 45-year-old Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., had a one stroke lead over Nakamura in the individual phase of the tournament. The unexpected battle between "long hit" Sam and the paunchy little Nakamura has stirred Tokyo as few sports events in the past.

The tournament is a 72-hole, four-day affair with the Canada Cup team and international trophy individual championships to be determined simultaneously. The team crown, won a year ago by Snead and Ben Hogan in Surrey, England, is decided on the aggregate scores of the two players representing each country.

Only seven players in the star-studded field of 60 professionals from 30 nations managed to beat Kasumigaseki's par. Besides Snead, Nakamura and Demaret, par-wreckers included four who fired 71s. They were Harold Henning of South Africa, Stan Leonard of Canada, Juan Querellos of Brazil and Celestino Tigot of the Philippines.

Straw Mulch Placed On Stitcher Field

Recreation Department workers Wednesday spread straw over Stitcher Field to protect the grass they hope will soon be springing up on the ball field.

The area was seeded several days ago and the mulch added to help the grass get established.

But officials said the grass will have little chance unless cars keep off the area.

The trees will serve to beautify the playground and will also help protect nearby homes from dust and noise.

To Race At Night

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP)—Night thoroughbred racing will be held on Saturday nights at the Hipodromo Presidente Remon in January. The programs will replace the regular Saturday afternoon programs at the new $6 million plant.

Gipp, Rockne's Greatest

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

KNUTE ROCKNE, the Notre Dame football coach, walked onto the football field after practice that autumn day in 1916, his attention riveted to a tall freshman student in every-day campus wear, kicking a football.

A little boy in a playsuit was chasing the ball for the freshman, who kicked the ball with such ease that even Rockne was surprised.

"What's your name?" Rockne asked.

"George Gipp," replied the student.

"Ever play any high school football?" Rock asked.

"No," answered the youth. "I never cared for it much. I like baseball better."

"I'd like to have you come out and join our squad," Rock said as he turned away and continued his walk to another part of the campus.

George Gipp came out for football. And, before his career ended in 1920, George Gipp became a legendary figure at Notre Dame. He was Rockne's first and greatest All-American.

GIPP PLAYED four seasons with Notre Dame and in two of them the Notre Dame team was undefeated and hailed as national champions.

In his first game as a freshman, Gipp drop-kicked a 62-yard field goal against Kalamazoo, Mich., Normal college.

One of his greatest days came in the Purdue game of 1920 when he ran 80 yards for a touchdown only to have the play called back and Notre Dame penalized 15 yards. On the very next play, Gipp took the ball again and went 95 yards for a score.

GIPP'S last game was against Northwestern on November 27, 1920. A few days later he became ill with an infection of the throat. He began to fail fast and Rockne was at his bedside when Gipp died.

The story of Gipp's death has been told many times.

It's worth repeating:

I've got to go, Rock," he said when his coach sat at his bedside. "But it's all right. Sometime, Rock, when the team is up against it, when things are wrong and the breaks are going the other way, tell them to go in there and win one just for the Gipper. I don't know where I'll be then, Rock, but I'll know about it and I'll be happy."

Rough Easy To Find

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—After playing an inspection round at Minikahda course for the recent Walker Cup matches, Capt. Gerald Micklem of the British team was asked how he found the rough.

"I find it very easily," Micklem answered wryly. "My troubles start when I try to get out."

Mont Concerned About Punting Of Tennessee

Fears Volunteers, Leery Of His Own

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 24 (AP)—It's rare any more in college football to find a coach doing a lot of worrying about punting. But Tommy Mont of Maryland is concerned about Saturday's game with Tennessee.

Bobby Gordon of Tennessee has averaged 45.6 yards on his 13 kicks and several have been quick boots. That's enough to keep an opponent on its toes.

But Mont also is concerned over what Tennessee may do to Maryland's kicking game. The Volunteers have excelled at both blocking kicks and returning them for long yardage.

Lost 1956 Game

"Last year, we got killed in the kicking game against Tennessee," Mont recalls with a shudder. Two blocked kicks contributed to Maryland's 34-7 loss.

Tennessee has blocked three kicks so far in four games.

Mont has been working for weeks to speed up the punting deliver of Ed Cooke. He doesn't care whether he can match Gordon's long distance.

"I'll be satisfied as long as he gets them off, 30 yards down the field and 50 yards up in the air," said Mont.

Both teams are in a winning stage midway through the season. Maryland has won two straight after losing its first three while Tennessee has won three since losing its opener to Auburn.

Maryland and its branch at Princess Anne will have the state football scene to themselves for homecomings Saturday.

Navy Meets Penn

Navy goes to Penn, Johns Hopkins to Hampden-Sydney and Morgan meets West Virginia State in Washington. Western Maryland is idle.

Maryland State goes against North Carolina College with the only undefeated record in the area. It has won two and tied another.

Navy, winner of four out of five, should have a field day at Penn, which hasn't won any this season.

Johns Hopkins will be making its first Mason-Dixon Conference appearance. It will be a tough one since Hampden-Sydney hasn't been beaten in four games.

Cotton Sets Pace

MADRID, Oct. 24 (AP)—Henry Cotton, veteran English professional, shot a four-under-par 68 today for a three-stroke lead in the first round of the Spanish Open Golf Tournament at the Club de Campo.

Ed Furgol, the 1954 U.S. Open champion from St. Andrews, Ill., was well down the list with a 76.

Boyd, Robinson Join Group With .300 Lifetime Marks

Williams' Average .350; Willie Mays, Furillo Show Gain

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP)—Frank Robinson of Cincinnati and Bob Boyd of Baltimore joined the select ranks of batters whose major league lifetime averages are .300 or better as a result of their 1957 performances.

Statistics compiled by the Associated Press showed today that 18 active players boast a career average of .300 or over, 2 less than there were at the end of the 1956 season. Records are based on players who have participated in at least 300 games.

Boyd Hitting .301

Robinson and Boyd became the only new additions. The Redlegs' outfielder hit .322 to boost his lifetime mark from .290 to .307. Boyd's career average went from .284 to .301. The Orioles' first baseman batted .318 last season.

Eight National League players own at least a .300 average with Stan Musial heading the parade. Stan the Man, who captured his seventh batting title with a .351 percentage, maintained his .340 lifetime average.

Those who dipped below the .300 circle were San Francisco's Don Mueller (.302 to .298), Cincinnati's Smoky Burgess (.301 to .299) and Pittsburgh's Bill Virdon (.301 to .284). In 1957 Mueller batted .258, Burgess .283 and Virdon .251.

Ted's Average .350

A trio of National Leaguers increased their .300 plus career percentages and moved up in the listings. Hank Aaron of Milwaukee displaced Philadelphia's Richie Ashburn as runnerup to Musial, .313 to .312. Aaron hit .322 in 1957 and his lifetime average rose three points. Ashburn's career figure fell off one point after a .297 season average.

Mays, Furillo Gain

The others to show a gain were Willie Mays of San Francisco and Carl Furillo of Los Angeles. Mays soared from .306 to .311 as a result of his .333 season performance and Furillo batted .307, his career mark rising one point to .301.

Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees was the only member of the American League select circle to display an improvement on his lifetime figures. The switch-hitting outfielder, in advancing to third just one point behind teammate Bill Skowron, produced a .365 average in 1957. This output lifted his lifetime percentage from .308 to .313.

Fight At Garden

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP)—Gale Kerwin, a sub for a sub, gets his big chance in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night when he meets Johnny Busso, ninth-ranking lightweight contender, in a national television 10-rounder.

"I intend to make the most of the opportunity," said Kerwin, 22-year-old Canadian living in Valley Stream, N.Y.

Kerwin was elevated from the semifinal to the main event when Paolo Rosi and then Ernie (Sonny Boy) Williams of Washington, D.C. were stricken with the Asian flu.

Although Kerwin is full of hope, bookmakers made the 23-year-old Busso the 13-5 favorite.

Third Brother To Vie In 6th International

Other U.S. Horses Uncertain Starters

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 24 (AP)—Third Brother became the third United States acceptance today for the Washington D. C. International horse race on Nov. 11.

Owners of the other two, Gallant Man and Round Table, haven't made up their minds definitely to race in the $100,000 mile and half event after accepting invitations.

Third Brother is the third effort by a selection board of turf writers to line up a United State entry. Dedicate was hurt after being invited and Swoon's Son declined.

Third Brother is owned by Christopher T. Chenery of Doswell, Va. He is a full brother to Hill Prince, the top U. S. horse of 1950.

Third Brother finished second by a length to Gallant Man in the Jockey Club Gold Cup at Belmont in his last race. His biggest victories this year were in the Bowie and Camden Handicaps.

Foreign entries in the sixth International are Oroso and Montaval from France, Ballymoss from Ireland and Nisos from Germany. Another foreign horse or two probably will be invited.

Mexico Captures 3rd Blue Ribbon In Horse Show

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 24—(INS)—Julio Herrera, riding 14th De Agosto, flashed to victory today in a fault-and-out event and picked up Mexico's third blue ribbon at the Pennsylvania National Horse Show.

Herrera piloted his chesnut stallion over 16 hurdles in the winning time of 62½ seconds to spread eagle a field of 20 other riders from seven nations.

England's team, even with Mexico in blues as the week-long show passed the halfway point, picked up second and third places. Miss Pat Smythe, aboard Private Enterprise, was second with 16 hurdles in 63-6/10 seconds. Ted Williams, riding a barrel-chested gelding named Tim, managed 15 hurdles in 60 seconds flat. Fourth went to the United States with Hugh Wiley, of Towson, Md., taking his mount Trail Guide over 14 hurdles in 64-1/10 seconds.

Bornastar Wins Spinster Stakes, Returns $20.80

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 24—(INS)—Bornastar, ridden by Ken Church, scored an upset victory today by winning the second running of the $76,050 Spinster Stakes at Keeneland Track by two lengths.

The winner, owned by J. Graham Brown of Louisville, Ky., returned $20.80 and 3.20. There was no show wagering.

The victory was worth $44,480 to Brown. Bornastar covered the mile and one eighth distance in 1:49-1/5.

Willie Hartack, orginally was scheduled to ride Bornastar but decided to remain at Garden State in New Jersey and Church was substituted.

Royal Lark, Dainty Jane Score Wins

Main Chance Duo Cops Co-Features

JAMAICA, N. Y., Oct. 24 — (AP) — Maine Chance Farm's Royal Lark and Mrs. Leroy Hetzel's Dainty Jane won the two sections of the Pulaski Purse at Jamaica Race Track today.

Royal Lark, 4-year-old daughter of Royal Blood-Sweet Overa, ridden by Paul Bailey, got up in the last stride to win by a head from Mrs. Christopher M. Greer's Heavens Above. Third money three quarters of a length back went to Christopher T. Chenery's Scansion. Time for the six furlongs run on a rain-soaked track was a moderate 1:12 1/5.

Overlooked in the betting by the crowd of 15,471, Royal Lark returned mutuels of $20.80, $9.80 and $6.50. Heavens Above paid $4.90 and $4.00 and Scansion was $5.40 to show.

Dainty Jane, 3-year-old daughter of Rosemont-Galchester, sped the six panels in the good time of 1:11 1/5 in scoring by three quarters of a length over Wheatley Stable's Untamed. A length back came Charles L. Heekin's Careless Miss.

Favored in the wagering, Dainty Jane returned the across the board mutuels of $6.70, $4.10 and $3.10. Untamed paid $8.70 and $5.10 and Careless Miss was $3.70 to show.

Del Mar Horses Enjoy Salt Water Therapy

BY NORMAN BELL

DEL MAR, Calif. (AP) — Race horses go to the beach here daily to romp in the surf, roll in the sand or stretch in the sun.

They seem to enjoy it, as much as their trainers, jockeys and exercise boys. Even some of their owners take part.

The trainers say it is fine for horse racing muscles.

Thoroughbreds at Del Mar, known as the track "where the turf meets the surf," have only a short distance to go for their morning dips in the Pacific.

They trot or gallop, sometimes belly deep, in the surf and some even swim beyond the breakers.

Rolling in the sand and stretching in the sun are also part of the salt water therapy.

Trainers say the practice started on New York's Long Island several decades ago and is now employed at other tracks not too far from the ocean, such as northern California's Bay Meadows and Tanforan.

The trainers cite particularly the case of a horse named Golden Prince, who was rejuvenated into winning the $100,000 Coffroth Handicap in 1929 at the Agua Caliente, Mexico, track. He was given the salt water treatment at Imperial Beach, just south of here.

Most of the top money winners at Del Mar, during the 1957 racing season, went daily from the turf to meet the surf. Trainers Reggie Cornell and Farrell Jones were among those approving the practice and participating.

Willie Hartack Posts 24th Win At Garden State

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 24 (AP) — Spring Hill Farm's I Geegee refused to be dismayed by a muddy track and carried Jockey Willie Hartack to his second victory of the afternoon today in the featured Executive's Purse at Garden State Park.

I Geegee, heavily supported by the 14,785 damp but game fans, finished three parts of a length before J. W. Bowley's Bay Venus. In third place was Mrs. Florence Mallowan's Emory Mal with G. T. Hallowell's Home Boy just out of the mutuel money.

The winner was timed in 1:12 and had a modest across-the-board return of $3.60, $3.20, $3.00.

Hartack's other score came astride Ridge Stable's Settum Up Joe in the third race.

Today's double score gave the nation's number one rider 24 for the meeting and gave him a two-a-day average, this being the 12th day of the session.

The "8-12" daily double tickets today were redeemable at $43.60 as a result of victories by Singalea and Fillane.

Duplicate's Ace

PONCA CITY, Okla (AP)—Bob McGartney, Ponca City junior high school basketball coach believes he's doing better hitting the cup than the net. He scored his second hole-in-one in a year—and both on the same 14th hole. It is a 118-yard, par three-hole.

Dodgers Sign Walt Alston, Peewee Reese

Latter Will Play For 16th Season

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24 (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers tonight made formal what already had been anticipated—the signing of contracts for 1958 with Manager Walt Alston and team Captain Peewee Reese.

Vice President E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi made the announcement at a press conference as the Dodger front office force and President Walter O'Malley completed their first full day of activity in their new home away from Brooklyn.

Bavasi was asked if the "neighborhood" amounts represented a raise. He laughed and said, "No one with the Dodgers gets a raise when we lose the pennant."

O'Malley spent the day with a round of visits with city and county officials. He paid a courtesy call to Mayor Norris Poulson and a similar visit to the City Council and the County Board of Supervisors.

Cards of Thanks

We would like to express our heartfelt thanks to the many friends and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy they showed during the illness and departure from this world of our beloved daughter and sister, Margaret K. Harris, Westernport.

Their thoughtfulness and kindness helped to ease our burden and sorrow. We would like to thank Rev. and Mrs. Hugh Maynard and those who sent many beautiful flowers, those who donated the use of their cars and for many thoughtful gestures shown, we are deeply grateful.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred F. Harris and Family

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their many kindnesses shown us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and father, John K. Hartell. We especially wish to thank the pallbearers, those who loaned cars, sent flowers or in any manner assisted us.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Queen of hearts.

Appearances are frequently deceptive in the play of a hand. Declarer thought he had 10 top tricks when the dummy was spread today and started out to develop an 11th. In fact, he had only eight sure winners and in his effort to make overtricks, ran into a distributional snag that cost him the contract.

The bidding was of the standard textbook order. South, having four suits protected and a point count of 25, had exactly the minimum requirements for a three no trump opening. North did not have enough for a slam try and passed.

West opened the queen of hearts. Declarer won with the king and, having what appeared to be a 10 trick laydown, set about to try for an additional trick. He led a low club to the queen and immediately tried the diamond finesse.

West won with the queen and returned the jack of hearts. Declarer won this trick with the ace. He now cashed the ace of clubs and received a rude jolt when West showed out of the suit.

South's assets had dwindled to eight tricks, so he tried the ace and king of diamonds in the hope that that suit would break 3-3 and the odd diamond in dummy would produce trick number nine. When this failed to come off, he had to accept a one trick set.

Declarer could have played safely without giving up his chance for overtricks, but he should have made certain of his contract first. Proper play would have been the ace of clubs followed by another club.

When West shows out, declarer must play low from dummy and give up a trick in order to insure winning four tricks in that suit and bring the total to nine. If it is expedient to do so, he may have a chance to try the diamond finesse later.

Manslaughter Verdict Found In Trial Here

Chambers Jailed Pending Sentence In Wife's Death

James McHenry Chambers, 45-year-old Baltimore and Ohio Railroad brakeman, yesterday was found guilty of manslaughter but not guilty of murder in the May 2 slaying of his 36-year-old wife, Mrs. Virginia Broadstock Chambers.

The Allegany County Circuit Court jury of nine men and three women deliberated more than two hours before returning the verdict, the fourth of five possible.

The jury got the case at 11:20 a. m. after hearing the final instructions from Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris, who presided at the two-day trial, and arguments from the four attorneys concerned in the case. They included State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher, James S. Getty, his assistant, and the two defense attorneys, Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson.

At noon the jurors were taken in a body from the Court House for lunch together in a private room of a local restaurant. At 1:15 p. m. the jurors returned to the Court House to resume their deliberations into the fate of Chambers.

Confusion Before Verdict

It was 2:43 p. m. when Sidney H. Storer Sr., the court bailiff walked into the main court room to inform Chief Judge George Henderson, who was hearing evidence in another case, that the jurors were ready with their verdict.

Nine minutes of confusion then followed. Judge Henderson briefly recessed his trial. It was then announced that Judge Harris would receive the jury's verdict in the auxiliary court room. After the jurors and about 20 spectators crowded into the small court room, it was then announced that Judge Harris would receive the verdict in the main court room, whereupon everyone hurriedly walked into the main court room.

After Charles K. McDonald, deputy clerk of court, had called the roll of tthe 12 jurors to determine that all were present he asked the foreman if they were agreed on their verdict, Benjamin H. Evans of Lonaconing, the foreman then stood at 2:52 p. m. and announced that they found Chambers guilty of manslaughter but not guilty of the more serious crime of murder.

10-Year Term Possible

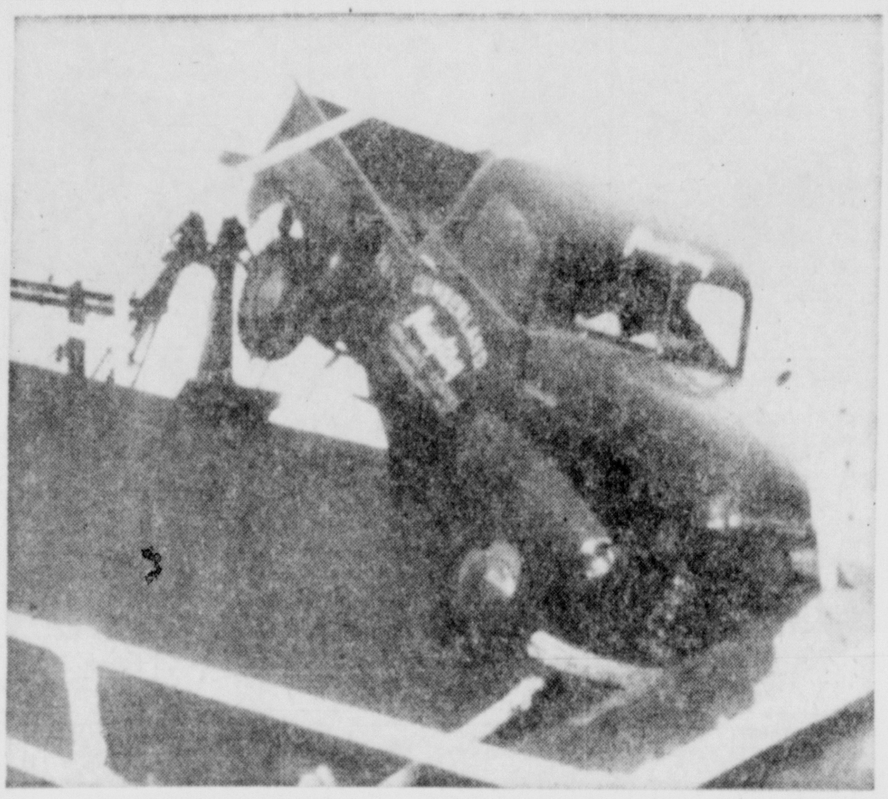

Judge Harris ordered Chambers returned to his cell in the County Jail while he pondered the sentence. He did not indicate when the sentence might be imposed. Under Maryland law, Chambers may receive up to 10 years in the state penitentiary, up to two years in the County Jail, up to $500 fine, or fine and imprisonment.

In delivering his six pages of instructions to the jury, Judge Harris had the following to say about manslaughter:

"Manslaughter, as distinguished from murder in either degree, is the unlawful killing of a person without malice. Manslaughter generally is defined as involuntary killing, not done with the specific intent to take a life, as where the killing was done with a reckless and negligent indifference to the lives and safety of others and wanton disregard for the other person's life.

"The distinction existing between murder and manslaughter is that, with murder in either degree, malice, as I have legally defined it, is a necessary ingredient, while in manslaughter the existence of malice is lacking."

Other possible verdicts which the jury disregarded included (1), guilty of murder in the first degree, (2) guilty of murder in the first degree without capital punishment, (3) guilty of second degree murder and (4) not guilty.

Truck Plunges Over Wall

A pickup truck owned by the Cumberland Maytag Appliance Center which was parked on Wallace Street drifted downhill and over a wall near the City Warehouse at the Valley Street bridge yesterday. No one was injured. Driver of the vehicle, who was delivering a package, was Joseph W. Richards, a serviceman for the firm. The picture was taken by Mrs. Floyd H. Myers, 514 North Mechanic Street. One of two tow trucks is shown removing the wreckage.

Speaker Says Souls Need To Catch Up With Brains

Rev. Dr. Louis Hadley Evans Sr. of Los Angeles, Calif., one of America's leading clergymen, told the Cumberland Kiwanis Club yesterday that leaders in Washington with whom he has discussed the prospects for future peace emphasize that "our souls must catch up with our brains."

Dr. Evans, who is minister-at-large and associate general secretary for the Board of National Missions of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., spoke Wednesday night to Presbyterian men in Lonaconing and last night to the Men's Club of First Presbyterian Church here.

During the summer the last several years he has filled the pulpit of National Presbyterian Church in Washington and it is in this connection that he has come to know President Eisenhower and many other leaders in the judiciary, Senate, House of Representatives and at the Pentagon. He travels about 90,000 miles every year.

The speaker used a number of fairly simple illustrations in his off-the-cuff remarks to cite certain fundamental principles. When asked if we can have morality without God, he said that when the letters G. O and D are taken from Good there is nothing left.

Dr. Evans asserted that our nation's founders gave us a great spiritual heritage and we have been drawing on it for several centuries without adding anything to it. It is time that we started making some spiritual deposits, he stressed.

Most of America's early colleges were founded by churches and as a result of theology and courses dealing with the things of the spirit had an important place in the curriculum. Today there are so many electives in most colleges that theology and philosophy are shunted into the background.

The Presbyterian leader said that each person is an equilateral triangle. His sociology is as broad as his theology is high, he explained.

Dr. H. P. Sturdivant, division lieutenant - governor for Kiwanis International, and three other Kiwanians from Westminster were here to hear Dr. Evans' talk.

Explorer Scout System Change Is Announced

A major revision in the Explorer Scouting program has been announce by the national executive commtitee, according to Dr. Thomas Bess, Keyser, president of Potomac Council.

Dr. Bess said the revision is concerned with Boy Scouts when they become 14 years old. Heretofore, Dr. Bess said, when a youth became 14 he automatically became an Explorer Scout and either remained in the same troop or joined an Explorer unit.

The new program calls for an optional setup that would allow a youth to remain in the troop as a Boy Scout or to transfer to the Explorer program when he reaches the age of 14. It is also required that the boy must be 14 and in the ninth grade at school or 15 years of age. A boy will not be permitted to remain in a scout troop while an Explorer.

The national executive committee has put the new program on an optional basis from January 1, 1958 until January 1, 1959, after which it will be mandatory.

The revision also will abolish the Explorer awards for advancement and all scouts will work toward the regular Star, Life and Eagle awards.

The committee said it was making the change in order to appeal more to the interests of the older boys. Studies showed it was difficult to gear all the programs of a Boy Scout troop to appeal to all ages within the troop.

At the present time there are eight Explorer units in Potomac Council with 124 members, and 364 Explorers registered in other troops. Willis V. Smith, executive secretary of Potomac Council, said there is a possibility that more units for Explorers will be formed when the new program goes into effect.

Runaway Truck Plunges Over High Wall Here

No One Hurt In Accident

A rather spectacular truck crash occurred yesterday when a parked vehicle drifted down Wallace Street and plunged through a guard rail and over a wall onto steps leading from that street to Valley Street. No one was injured.

Joseph W. Richards, serviceman for the Cumberland Maytag Appliance Center, was the driver of the truck. He said he had parked the pickup truck along Wallace Street and had gone to the front porch of a house to deliver a package.

He rang the doorbell a second time, and when he glanced around he saw the truck heading down the street. Mr. Richards said he "took after it" but was too late and the truck plunged over the wall with the rear bumper remaining on the wall. The truck had drifted about 70 feet.

Mr. Richards said "there wasn't a soul in sight" and fortunately no one was using the steps at the time. West Side firemen were called to the scene to water down the area where gasoline spilled.

The tow trucks were required to get the wreckage back onto the street. A large crowd was attracted to the scene, near the City Warehouse.

William Buchholtz, commissioner of streets and public property, said barricades will be placed at the bottom of the steps, at the point where the truck plunged through the guard rail, and also at Wallace Street where it joins Magruder Street.

Mr. Richards said wet leaves along the street may have caused the pickup truck to start sliding down the street. City Police Officer Ernest M. Powell investigated.

To Attend Homecoming

L. E. Van Sant Is Found Dead At His Home

Was Well Known In Sports Circles

Lorenzo Elwood "Red" Van Sant, 77, one of the best known persons in local athletic circles, was found dead yesterday afternoon at his home, 215 Greene Street.

Mr. Van Sant was found by his daughter, Mrs. Jack L. Evans, 224 Avirett Avenue, after neighbors reported that the newspapers from Wednesday evening and yesterday morning were still on his front porch.

Dr. H. V. Deming said Mr. Van Sant died about 3 p.m. Wednesday of a heart attack. His daughter had visited him earlier that afternoon.

A lifelong resident of this city, Mr. Van Sant was a son of the late Theodore and Virginia (Lee) Van Sant. His wife, Elton (Foote) Van Sant, died on May 8, 1956.

Very active in tennis, he was the promoter of the city and county tennis tournaments for many years and was active on the tennis courts until his death.

He also spent many years in the advertising business in Cumberland and managed a band which toured the country.

"Red" was active in pioneer basketball circles, and played here over 40 years ago with the team sponsored by the local YMCA, where he also was physical director.

In addition to setting up and instructing tennis each summer at the local playgrounds, he was instrumental in promoting the badminton programs at Fort Hill High School which were sponsored by the city.

Also surviving besides his daughter, are one other daughter, Mrs. John Wilson, city; two sons, John K. Van Sant, Falls Church, Va., and Thomas F. Van Sant, Baltimore; a brother, Homer Van Sant, city; two nephews, Henry Martin, Falls Church, and James Martin, city; eight grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

The body is at the George Funeral Home where services will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p.m. Rev. W. R. Keefe Jr., pastor of Grace Baptist Church, will officiate and interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

Friends Aware Meeting Sunday

Charles Abel, of Baltimore, will be the guest speaker Sunday afternoon during a county-wide meeting of Friends Aware of Handicapped Children which will be held at Lincoln School in Frostburg.

The meeting will begin at 1:30 p. m. Mr. Abel was treasurer of the Maryland Society for Mentally Retarded Children and fund raising chairman from 1949 to 1952.

He assisted in drawing up the amendment that provided state aid for mentally retarded children and represented parents of Maryland at the General Assembly at Annapolis.

Mr. Abel served as president of the Maryland Society from 1953 to 1957 and was founder of The Searchlight Training Centers and is now serving on the Advisory Board for Special Education for the Catholic Board of Education of Maryland.

He was recently named a member of the Unit Study Relations Board of the National Association for Retarded Children, representing the South-East Region of the national organization which includes some 11 states.

Reunion Postponed

The reunion of the training family of Second Baptist Church, which was set tomorrow, has been postponed.

Cresaptown Eagles Home Dedication Set Tomorrow

Herman L. Myers, state secretary and secretary of Cumberland Aerie 245, FOE, who spread the charter for the Cresaptown Aerie nine years ago, will give the dedication address.

The call to order will be at 7 p. m. by John Smith, worthy president of Aerie 2883, who will welcome those in attendance and give the opening remarks.

The introduction of the main speaker will be Gilbert Keister, a charter member and past worthy president of the Cresaptown Aerie. Short talks will be given by Cecil Straw, first president of the Aerie; Mr. Keister; Cecil Warnick, trustee of Aerie 2883; Richard T. Bruchey, state president; and O. Leroy Morris, secretary of the Grand Board of Pension Trustees.

The closing prayer will be by Rev. George S. Widmyer, pastor of the United Brethren Church at Potomac Park.

The grand opening of the new home, a one-story concrete block building located on U. S. Route 220 in the heart of Cresaptown, and music and social activities will constitute the remainder of the evening's program.

On Sunday at noon the state officers will meet for a regular business session and at 2 p. m. a state district meeting will be held, at which time a large class of new members will be initiated by Hagerstown Aerie 694 degree team. This meeting will be for officers and members only.

The institution date of the Cresaptown Aerie was September 20, 1948 and the charter was granted on November 10 that year.

The aerie's activities includes meetings every Thursday night, games party on Wednesday night, Saturday night dances, and the sponsorship of boys' softball games. The aerie is open daily from 1 p. m. to 11:45 p. m. except Sunday.

City Collects $998,234 In 1957 Taxes

George E. Davis, city collector, reported yesterday that collections on 1957 taxes totaled $998,234.03.

Included were a considerable number of payments made by mail and postmarked by midnight Wednesday, and the office expects to get a few more mailed payments which will qualify during the interest-free period.

The anticipated returns, plus about $1,200 in checks which were not tabulated pending corrections, are expected to push the early returns at least to the million dollar mark.

Taxes paid not later than November 23 will be subject to one per cent interest and one-half per cent thereafter.

Bake Sale Slated

More Schools Close Doors Until Monday

Mineral County Points Affected

More public schools in West Virginia's Mineral County and another parochial school in Allegany County yesterday closed up shop until Monday morning as a result of the continuing abnormally high absenteeism attributed primarily to the influenza-type illness.

The new parochial school to close its doors is St. Patrick's in Mt. Savage, at noon yesterday. Sister M. Cordula, the principal, said classes will resume Monday morning.

Mineral County's closed door policy, which had been restricted to the elementary and high schools in Keyser Wednesday, spread yesterday to include the elementary and high schools in Fort Ashby and elementary schools at Patterson's Creek and Short Gap.

Fort Ashby High School had 116 absent out of 305 yesterday and the grade school counted 78 absentees among its 203 pupils. At Patterson's Creek about half of the pupils were absent yesterday and at Short Gap more than one-third were away from their classrooms.

Ridgeley and Wiley Ford schools are still in operation but the Limestone and Fountain schools near Keyser also are closed.

At Valley High School in Lonaconing there were 192 absent yesterday, five more than the 187 Wednesday but not nearly as many as the peak of 251 reached last week. Central Elementary School in Lonaconing has had between 125 and 139 out daily this week.

Wet weather was blamed for the slight upsurge in absenteeism yesterday at Allegany High School, where 430 were absent compared with 400 the day before. Fort Hill High School, on the other hand, reported 439 absentees, 11 fewer than the day before.

B&O Layoffs Being Planned

Details were still being worked out here yesterday but rough estimates indicated that at least 10 per cent of the 2,500 furloughs scheduled by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad on November 1 will be made on the Cumberland Division.

The layoffs will probably affect from 10 to 15 members of the division's clerical workers.

No furloughs are planned for engine crews, but work will be reduced as yard engines are cut off when business is light.

It was indicated that about 35 workers in the locomotive and car departments at Keyser will be affected. No layoffs are planned, however, for freight car repair units working in Keyser.

To be laid off at the Bolt and Forge Shop and the Rolling Mill here are 203 workers, including 145 from the Bolt and Forge and 58 from the Rolling Mill.

The layoffs, scheduled as freight business declined, will be spread over the B & O's 13-state system.

Judge Convicts Truck Driver, His Companion

First False Report Verdict

Emory Lee Shirley, 35, of Paw Paw, W. Va., late yesterday afternoon was found guilty of manslaughter by Chief Judge George Henderson in Allegany Circuit Court in the death of Connie Jean Crabtree, 11, RFD 1, Paw Paw, who was struck by his truck near her home on State Route 51 A gust 27.

Although he found Shirley guilty, Judge Henderson left the door slightly ajar by indicating that he might reverse himself. He suggested that George R. Hughes Jr., Shirley's attorney, file a motion for a new trial while the judge studies one more case on the subject decided by the Maryland Court of Appeals.

But while some question hung over the fate of Shirley, his companion was sentenced to 10 days in the County Jail and fined $100 in a separate trial on a charge of making a false report to State Trooper Robert D. Wolford.

Assumed Blame

When Trooper Wolford arrived at the accident scene about 3:50 p. m. August 27, Hedrick told him that he was driving Shirley's truck and the owner was a passenger. The next day in the office of State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher, Hedrick admitted that Shirley was the driver.

Hedrick's conviction is the first in this county under new Section 174A of Article 27 of the Annotated Code of Maryland. This was Chapter 549 of the Acts of 1957, which passed the General Assembly as House Bill 248. It was approved April 10.

Shirley, who was called to the witness stand in his own defense, admitted that he never had a driver's license although he had been driving 10 to 15 years. He said he had driven most of the 60,000 miles which had been put on his truck since its purchase about three years ago.

Truck Carried Lumber

He had driven the truck from Paw Paw to Green Spring, W. Va., via Oldtown with 2,000 feet of green oak lumber, a seven-ton load. The trucker said that while driving southeast toward Paw Paw, he saw the Crabtree girl running along a 20-foot bank on the left side of the road. Moments later, as a truck headed toward Cumberland, he saw the girl in the middle of his lane running toward the right side of the road.

"I whipped the truck to the left and hit the brakes but couldn't avoid hitting her," Shirley explained.

Troopers Wolford and Carlton Lewis, who assisted in the investigation, testified that when they checked Shirley's truck upon their arrival they found that the brakes went directly to the floor. Wolford said he pumped them two or three times before they took hold. The truck had come to rest against a guard rail on the left side of the road. The child's body was about 40 feet from the drive leading to her home. One sandal was lying near the drive.

Miss Burns Begins Work At City Hall

She will replace Mrs. Ruth Morgan, who is on leave of absence.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said the appointment is temporary and pending results of the eligibility list which will be established as a result of tests planned Monday by the Civil Service Commission.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. John Elliott, Laurel, announce the birth of a son October 6 at Laurel General Hospital there. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence G. Jenkins, 531 O'Neil Street, and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Elliott, 353 Dorn Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Roland, Bakersfield, Calif., announce the birth of a daughter there Wednesday. The mother is the former Miss Delores Wilkins of this city. The father is a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Roland, Flintstone.
